Veterans, residents reminded of losing comrades in action, hold services at Hillside Cemetery

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Perhaps it is decades before the rituals of remembrance begin to assume deeply felt meaning by those who are very young or who were not there in combat with friends killed.

Later in soldiers' lives, they try to teach others what must be remembered.

"Most people in this town realize there are past wars and appreciate our efforts," said Al Himber, member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551, Antioch.

He sees community remembrance on days other than Memorial Day. "People for the most part are very conscious of the veterans and go out of their way to buy a poppy or pay tribute," he said.

Antioch Poppy Day is May 23 and 24, sponsored by the American Legion. A second opportunity to donate is May 30 and 31, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In May it is Memorial Day that "brings back memories of losing comrades in action. It is a sad day. We like to do services to show our feelings for departed comrades," Himber said.

The Himber family had six brothers and one nephew in World War II. Later on, the family had a son and son-in-law serving in the Vietnam War. Al Himber served with the 976th Military Police in Europe. His mother had seven stars in her window, he said.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars have conducted memorial services at Hillside Cemetery since the Post originated in 1945. It is a memorial service with rituals to provide a frame around the very individual thoughts and emotions that the war survivors and their families think about on such an occasion.

"We do a rifle salute — a twenty-one gun salute," said Himber. Taps is played by Richard Meltzer, Antioch, who works at Lakes Area Music Store. "It's very sentimental and brings back a lot of memories," said Himber. During the services, usually attended by village officials, "if people have something to say, they can speak."

The memorial services are organized by the VFW as well as the American Legion and their associated women auxiliaries. Local Scout Troops also participate.

Wally Hartge, a radio operator veteran of World War II's European, African, Sicilian, Italian, French, and German combat areas, will talk about what he experienced in the four years of that war. "We [45th Division, the Thunderbirds] were always in the front lines of continuous combat"

Adams family memorial to benefit park

Family says they will hug infant in their hearts forever

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The family of Jared Adams will establish a memorial in his name in the form of a donation to an Antioch Park yet to be determined.

The family continues to derive support from many community residents and close friends.

Jared Michael Adams, eight months old, died accidentally on April 25. He died of suffocation from a playpen collapse while at his grandparents' house in Twin Lakes.

The family, through parents Dan and Pat Adams, expressed their appreciation to the community for its support during a very difficult time. "We would like to extend our heartfelt gratitude for family, friends, neighbors, and the entire community, for their prayers, compassion and generosity which has brought us so much comfort during this difficult time," said Pat Adams.

A special thank you was extended to all the school children for their prayers, St. Peter's choir for their angelic singing, and to Father Costello and Father Hurley for their healing words.

Pat Adams said, "We were blessed with an angel and will treasure every moment we shared with him. His smiles, expressions, and squeals of delight have become everlasting memories and although we may never hold him in our arms again, we will hug him in our hearts forever."

'The saga continues' for Waterfalls

Village decides to allow restaurant to serve alcohol only at banquets

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Village Liquor Commission revoked the liquor license for Waterfalls Restaurant, last week. Allegations by the village related to the liquor license suspension include: no resident manager, underage drinking, loud noise, disorderly conduct and battery, and failure to pay the cost of transcripts.

Village officials decided, however, to provide a liquor license to the Waterfalls Restaurant on a case-by-case basis to permit it to honor banquet contracts signed on or before May 16. The liquor license will be valid for liquor sales in the banquet area only.

The situation remains fluid, however, as court activities related to commingled issues of bankruptcy and license revocation continue. As Village Attorney Kenneth Clark told the village board Monday evening, "the saga continues."

Tom Dwyer, attorney for Peter Bouzanis, owner of the Waterfalls Restaurant, said, "We plan to get the establishment their liquor license back" so that it is a fully functional restaurant.

Dwyer also noted, "The Waterfalls and Mr. Bouzanis are not receiving fair treatment from the Village of Antioch... They're just trying to run him out of town."

"Originally we had revoked their license," Clark told the village board, Monday evening, as he started a summary of the status of the Waterfalls Restaurant situation. "That revocation hearing is now before the Illinois Liquor Control Commission."

According to Clark, the State of Illinois subsequently pulled the Waterfalls liquor license for a period of 10 days for failure to pay sales tax. The holder of the mortgage also foreclosed on the restaurant. Eventually, the Waterfalls filed for bankruptcy to permit a Chapter 11 reorganization. As a result, a Bankruptcy Court permitted the Waterfalls Restaurant to reopen in order to raise money for creditors.

There was a second hearing involving allegations of underage

Wertz speaks at Historical Society

Featured speaker at the May 22 meeting of the Lakes Region Historical Society meeting is Charles Wertz. He will discuss a controversial water line that may have gone near Antioch in 1893.

Wertz will speak on a "Hundred and Four Mile Drink of Water for a Penny" at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the museum, 817 Main Street. His presentation will follow the Society's brief business meeting. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Wertz drilled his first well in 1921 when he was 10 years old. He is the former owner of C.L. Wertz Well Drilling, Inc. of Antioch.

REMEMBERING: Recall real meaning of holiday

under General George Patton. Patton said "we were the fightingest Division in the 5th Army."

Seven soldiers of the original 128 who went off to the war with Hartge came back from it. "The rest were killed," he said. He barely made it home himself to return to work as a bricklayer. He had been wounded three times. The concentration camps that he helped to liberate also remain among his most vivid and lasting memories.

Hartge has talked to school children of his experiences. He is one of many veterans who spend time with young people to teach them the history of the past and the rituals of pledging allegiance to the symbol of the country their friends died to keep free.

Although he came to the United States when he was 5 years old, he spoke the German language well and was able to use his knowledge of German in the second World War.

"My father fought for the German Army in 1914 through 1918. Then, my two brothers and I fought against the German Army" in 1945. Some of his European family members were not pleased about that. Having seen what was there, their concerns did not bother Hartge.

One of their most remembered post members is Floyd Horton, a World War I veteran who will celebrate his 105th birthday in November. He is currently a sharp-minded veteran at the Veterans Hospital at North Chicago. The post displays a photograph of Horton on the wall of their building at 75 North Avenue. He was photographed by Jack Himber, a Vietnam War veteran. The photograph shows Horton saluting with the left hand. When asked why Horton was not saluting with his right hand, Jack Himber is said by his father, Al, to explain, "When you're as old as he is, you can salute with either hand; but actually, he was wounded in his right arm and can't salute."

It is not the only time to remember. "People have been very generous" in their donations on Poppy Day said Himber. It's another way to express remembrance.

SAGA: Waterfalls liquor license only good for banquets

drinking, many battery complaints, disorderly conduct complaints, and loud noise complaints. The liquor license was revoked. At the present time, the Waterfalls cannot distribute liquor. As of May 15, "he was closed for the purpose of selling liquor," Clark said.

"Because there were many innocent third parties involved with banquets," Clark said, "on a case-by-case basis we are allowing him [Bouzanis] to have a one-day liquor license or permission to distribute liquor only to those parties with a valid banquet contract."

There was speculation by Clark at Monday's Village Board meeting, before a scheduled Tuesday court hearing, that the Waterfalls might be able to reopen as a result of that court's decision.

To honor existing contracts, alcohol can be served in the banquet facility only as of May 16. If it is served in the restaurant or dance hall areas, the Antioch Police Department has instructions to shut them down.

Village counters zoning board

Votes 4-1 against changing zoning on Depot Street to manufacturing

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Village Trustees sided with neighborhood residents and voted to deny a zoning change from residential to manufacturing that the Planning and Zoning Board had recommended be approved.

The property is 6.1 acres at 160 Depot Street. The Planning and Zoning Board recommended to approve a petitioner's request to rezone the Nauseda property from R-1 Residential zoning to M-1 Limited Manufacturing zoning.

Bob Silhan, Director of Planning, Zoning, and Building, stated after the meeting that the petitioners for the requested change "did not specify a plan so there is not a specific development proposal" for the property that is known by the village.

About three dozen area residents commented on the zoning change request before the trustee vote to deny was taken.

The village board received a recommendation from the Planning and Zoning Board with the requirement that the requested zoning be subject to a special use requirement of a planned unit development.

Such a stipulation would have later required the developer of the property to undertake traffic impact studies with recommendations to minimize traffic impacts.

There were four yes votes to deny (Trustees Larsen, Cunningham, Oldenburger, and Forestra), one vote opposed (Maravelas), and one trustee was absent (Weber).

Wayne Sobczak of Realty World-Tiffany represented the petitioner for the requested change. He noted during his presentation that "We really see very few issues that address the impacts, of this property being rezoned, on the entire community of Antioch and the good of all the people."

Sobczak was quite specific in his summary of the merits of the proposed rezoning. He said, "M-1 zoning appears on our comprehensive plan; it was something that was recommended by Village officials; it was something we enjoyed for many many years on the property. We feel the impact on the entire community would be actually positive because of the increase in tax revenues and no impact whatsoever on the schools, except a positive one."

Donald Schroeder, representing a group called Peoples Effort to Preserve Our Neighborhood, drew attention to arguments he had previously raised at the hearings of the Planning and Zoning Board. "We're concerned with the quality of life and the property," He said, "a lot of the foliage that is there are endangered species as well as animals that are in the area." Sobczak noted that the Illinois Department of Natural Resources had provided a sign-off letter on the threatened and endangered species concern.

Janet Reynolds expressed concerns about the safety of children with so many more drivers passing through the area. "The charm of Antioch," she said, "is that it has cohesive neighborhoods where your children have been safe. You can have them outside; they can play in your front yard. It is a community. Now, its got all kinds of people driving through who don't care about the community. They only care if they're getting to the train on time."

Sue Anna Scribner spoke of her concerns related to the dangerous vehicle traffic. "My concern is the safety of people who live there and our children," she said. She described the large amount of foot traffic by high school students through the area and their potential danger from higher levels of truck traffic volume.

John McNeill expressed concern about the need for proper transitional land use between the residential and manufacturing zones. Other attendees suggested that existing vacant areas in the industrial parks be utilized first. Land already zoned for manufacturing should be used, they said.

Sobczak urged quick approval for the recommended rezoning. "Time is not on our side," he said of his concerns.

The waterlily pads are coming back

Bill Holleman, active environmentalist in the lakes region, has noticed that the people moving to this area are much more aware of the details of nature. "There's a lot more interest here in people to maintain habitat for wildlife. The younger people moving out here and rehabbing houses in the Chain have a greater interest in the environmental nature of things. It's not just a duck. They know the species." Commenting about the past work of the Fox Waterway Agency, he said, "The single biggest thing that shows if we are going in the right direction is if the lily pads come back. And, they are coming back."

July 1 there is no more grace period for over due materials at the Antioch Public Library. If you are one day late, you pay a one day fine.

High students Jennifer Groth and Stefanie Foresta participated in the tree planting ceremony.

Jim Saric, Deerfield, dropped his boat into west Loon Lake in early May for some fishing. "It's one of the better Bass and Muskie lakes in the area. It's a very clean lake."

Check out the Edward L. Korando house at 1084 Main Street in the southwest corner of Harden and Main Street. It is a beautiful home and the flower displays should be very very nice for quite a few weeks. They are just beginning to come on. The tulip display was nice. Also worthy of a view is the flower and tree work the John Qualmann family has done at 415 Harden.

Darlene Scharlau and Jo Wegel work in the (genuine) factory outlet store at Pickard China. Together they estimate that 15 people have come into the store to make purchases. The new twist is that people are coming to buy at the store by using the Metra train line to get there. People who do that would prefer to have a longer amount of time to shop, but for now they grab and go. President Eben C. Morgan, Jr. expects expanded mid-day Metra service could represent a sizable new marketing opportunity not only for themselves but also downtown Antioch.

Presenting the Earth Flag at Emmons District 33 School assembly, Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug told students: "Your creative completion of the project makes our community very proud of you." The flag itself is a rich black color with a bright planet earth in the center. There are only 14 schools in Lake County this year who have this distinctive flag that represents over a year's worth of educational success at responsible solid waste management.

Three Antioch schools have outperformed the evaluation criteria used to determine eligibility to receive an Earth Flag award by the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County and the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

"The schools here in Antioch have gone beyond the program," says Monica Duebbert, SWALCO program and volunteer coordinator. "They're not just meeting the criteria of the program, but are going above and beyond in developing their own lessons and activities in recycling and waste reduction."

William Petty School, for example, "recycled an amazing tonnage of paper," Duebbert said. It represented a saving of 57 trees and "that's pretty amazing."

In honor of this level of achievement, Emmons Grade School received its Earth Flag from the County Earth Flag Program at an assembly on May 16. The Earth Flag program is sponsored by SWALCO and the Extension Service.

The success at Emmons Grade School was attributed by Duebbert to Principal Cyndy Vandrush. "She has been the driving force behind the program. It has been a good program at this school because it got the kids excited."

So excited, in fact, that they did activities beyond the program requirements. One example was the demonstration of worm composting. Food scraps are placed in a media that contains hundreds of earthworms.

The hungry annelids consume the waste food and turn it into castings, or compost. Another example was the collection of cans from market day activities and vending machine soda sales. The Emmons school raised $1200 from can recycling to purchase computer software.

Support for the program extends beyond Antioch school walls however. The Mayor of Antioch, Marilyn Shineflug, serves as a village representative on the Board of Directors of SWALCO. "She's just been wonderful," says Duebbert. Shineflug came to the school to present the Earth Flag at an assembly in the school's gymnasium.

At Emmons Grade School, student leadership was provided by the Student Council and the Earth Flag group.

It may not be the most dangerous game, but it came awfully close for 18-year-old Matthew McCoy, in a man versus train scenario which left McCoy with a broken arm, and fractured ribs. He is still in critical condition at Froedtert Memorial Lutheran Hospital, following a game of "Chicken" on the CP (Canadian Pacific) railroad tracks.

Teen scheduled for hearing in sexual assault

A 16-year-old charged with criminal aggravated sexual assault of an 8-year old is awaiting a hearing, May 27, before a Lake County judge.

Judge David Hall is scheduled to hear the case that day and could recommend further time in the Depke Juvenile Center in Vernon Hills for the accused.

The incident took place, May 15, at the victim's home, according to Gurnee police. The mother of the victim told authorities of the incident.

"He can only be held for 30 days. On May 27 there will be a disposition hearing in court," said Mary Yarc, Lake County court spokesperson.

A pretrial session was scheduled for May 19.

Gurnee authorities have said the offender has been forthcoming in telling them what happened. No additional charges are planned.

McCoy and two of his friends, ages 17 and 18, were out for a night of fun Thursday, May 15, getting an early start on their senior skip day at Waukegan High School, scheduled for the following day.

They were drinking beer and playing the game which involves a so called test of courage in which the participants stand on the tracks as the train approaches. The one staying the longest is the victor.

According to Sergeant Thomas Braze of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, McCoy was squatting on the tracks near the dead end of Yorkhouse Road, and at the last minute jumped out of the way of an approaching Amtrak passenger train on its way to Milwaukee.

He was "clipped" on the left side breaking his arm which was already in a cast and fracturing his ribs. Braze said, one of the boys ran to a nearby home to call for help.

Newport Rescue responded to the scene around 10:22 p.m. According to the report, McCoy was completely conscious and alert when they arrived.

He was initially transported to St. Therese Medical Center and was later taken to Froedtert, via Flight for Life.

Braze said McCoy could be charged with trespassing to private property, and disorderly conduct. Since the train was stopped following the incident Braze noted the incident was a major disruption to many people whose travel plans were delayed.

"This is a major intrusion on lives... The train lines have their own police and they may want to press charges," Braze explained.

What would Ma Bell would think

How any of us ever got along before answering machines, cellular phones, pagers, voice mail and Caller ID is beyond me, but as we approach the upcoming millennium, it looks as if modern technology is here to stay. First came those pesky little answering machines that answered the phone when the residents weren't home. In the beginning they seemed quite bothersome, then they became quite an advantage. Now you are able to state your business and then hang up without having to forego any of the niceties that go along with actually talking to a real person. No menial conversation about the weather and the kids, just get to the point, state the facts and business has been conducted.

Older folks are still somewhat intimidated by answering machines; most refuse to leave a message. It's a dead give away when grandma calls while you were out. It's like they have to wait until the whole message has played out before they realize nobody is there to talk to. First you hear the beep which signals them its time to start leaving their message, instead you hear a long pause followed by some shuffling footsteps and several feeble attempts to return the receiver back into the cradle. Even the kids can figure out who that was. Desperation is usually barking at their heels before they actually speak to the machine. The one and only time my dad left me a message was when he became stranded at the Los Angeles airport.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

Now, we have to endure those cutesy little messages that people feel the urge to create. The one's where the toddler of the family speaks some unintelligible dribble with mom and dad coaching him in the background. New parents think these are cute—most people find them annoying. Of course, there are also the folks who rattle on and on about their busy schedule and the infrequency of being home—who cares. The owner's manual on our recorder warned against saying things like "sorry we aren't home to take your call." They stressed that suspicion characters might pay an unwelcome visit to an unoccupied house. Now come on folks, when an answering machine says "sorry we are unable to take your call at this time," it means "we ain't here," any unsavory character pretty much knows that. When we first got our machine, I was kind enough to inform those wanna-be's exactly what loot the Pringle household contains. The message stated that the color TV only had two colors, green and dark green; the phone had a rotary dial, the stereo had only one workable speaker, a broken turntable but a usable 8-track tape player, we had no computer and even though we had a garage door opener, the light didn't work. Not a single appliance or electronic apparatus contained within the Pringle walls required a remote control. Our insurance agent thought besides living between a fire station and police department, it was the next best thing to lower premiums.

Then the answering machine became a way to screen your calls, now Caller ID has perfected the art. And call waiting, even though it is one of the rudest inventions ever discovered, it is a good way to disconnect someone you really didn't want to talk to in the first place. Kind of makes you wonder if the busy signal is going to be put on the shelves along with all those harvest gold rotary phones:

All this modern technology has actually achieved is to give people the option of jockeying around for the greatest advantage of who is more important than whom. We are now able to pick and choose who we wish to speak to and at what time it is the most convenient. So next time your pager beeps and you place a call from your cellular phone and the party is "unable to take your call right now," leave your name, number and a short message on their voice mail and they will get back to you as soon as they darn well please.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Petty students place fourth at Odyssey state finals

Seven fifth grade students from W.C. Petty Grade School were regional finalists and presented their solution to the problem "Double Trouble" at the Illinois Odyssey of the Mind State Finals competition. The students are Rachel Andrews, David Church, Kevin Gloyer, Jordan Houtz, Greg Mitchell, Tricia Moore and Anders Wennstrom.

The Odyssey of the Mind Program began in 1978 and promotes creative problem-solving. Teams of student participate in one of five categories. The "Double Trouble" problem-solving. Teams of students participate in one of five categories. The "Double Trouble" problem was to design and build a structure that is made up of two individual balsa wood and glue figures. One figure is designed as a bridge, the other as a load-bearing structure; together they are tested by supporting as much weight as possible. The team also presents a skit with their solution and are judged on how well they work together during the presentation. The Petty Team skit was based on Michael Jordan and Dennis Rodman assisting in testing a new rise at Walt Disney World. An eight minute time limit and a $90 limit were imposed on all teams.

In addition, each team is required to participate in a Spontaneous problem. They are given a problem and must supply as many answers as they can provide within a time limit. The score from this area is added to their long-term score and used to determine their standings.

Fish lured to inventor's plastic, pre-rigged, worm

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Fish who nip bait from behind will find a hook waiting in the Little Action Mac plastic, pre-rigged wrinkled worm.

That is one innovation that makes these Mundelein fish lures a special premium, unique product according to company president Tom Wenman.

"It's really very lively (bait)," Wenman says.

So is his business. He now operates a 10-year old business that specializes in the sale of a soft plastic worm. It is now available in stores throughout the Midwest, by mail order, and at the Country Corner in Mundelein and Triangle Sports in Antioch. "The season for these is just starting. They're most effective in late spring when it starts to warm up."

Wenman describes his product as unique because of the combination of features it contains to help catch fish such as Bluegill, Bass, Crappie, and Catfish. "Most people use it for Bass and Walleye," he said, "but it's really effective on a wide variety of fish." He added, "some people have actually used these to catch Muskies."

Wenman manufactures the worm and sells it through distributors. People outside the area of his distributorships, can purchase it by mail order. "We're doing OK," he says enthusiastically of the business. He receives calls from all over the country and business continues to increase.

Wenman says the experience of owning a business is "incredibly educational. There's just so many things to learn" about the business of fishing.

There is "a whole new network of people to meet." He finds that fishing magazines are interested in what he is doing with this lure.

The worm is made of a very soft plastic. It is pre-rigged with three hooks. "The worm itself is not straight. We put two very tight bends in the worm in the manufacturing process. What that combination does is give the lure a corkscrew action in the water."

It looks alive.

The fish eat it up.

Wenman also adds a powdered fish taste to the worm itself and adds a scent to the outside to help the product smell good for a fish. "There's not another one that I'm aware of on the market that puts fish flavor in a pre-rigged worm," said Wenman. He says that "it's much more lifelike than the harder baits."

He uses it. "I'm a catch and release fisherman," although he does keep a couple of walleye a year to eat.

Fishing has been a love of his for as long as he can remember. The opportunity to own and operate a business selling fishing equipment was a "chance to put together something I love with a business. This has been a goal for a long time."

Single lure prices range from $1.80 to $2.45, depending on size. They are 4 to 8 inches long. Little Action Mac lures come in such colors as: Motor Oil neon, Pumpkinseed Chartruse, Ice, Watermelon n' seed, Chartruse Flake, Smoke Red Glow, and Firecracker. There are, of course, the more prosaic colors of Blue Purple, Red Purple, and Black. Custom color combinations are available. Mustad hooks are used with low visibility green Tilene or Stren 12 and 20 pound test line. They should be attached to a ball bearing snap swivel.

The recyclable packaging also encourages fishermen to support catch and release. It is guaranteed to catch fish, or the price will be refunded, if you kept your receipt.

THE CLIPBOARD

Brendan O'Neill

Bears' coach offers insight, humor

Dave Wannstedt was a crowd-pleaser as guest speaker at the Ivanhoe Club for Omni Youth Services last Thursday.

According to Wannstedt, defensive tackle Chris Zorich went along on team trips after his injury early last season, because Alonzo Spellman told the coach he couldn't sleep nights without Zorich, his usual roommate, in the hotel room with him. Not wanting to jeopardize the team's success, Wannstedt called Zorich in and said, "your lunatic buddy can't sleep nights without you, do you mind making the road trips."

Zorich readily agreed.

The plan worked well until the injury-prone 1996 Bears started to appear to outnumber the healthy members of the team.

"I'm watching everyone board the bus one afternoon and we have nine guys lined-up on crutches and with casts," Wannstedt said.

"You want your best-looking players to get off the bus first to intimidate the other team. I had to put an end to the road trips for injured players."

The move, however, angered player Bryan Cox, who was then quoted in a Chicago paper as saying he was quitting football following a back injury. When confronted by Wannstedt about the quote, Cox, who has a reputation for being one of the more hot-headed guys in the NFL, replied, "you won't take me on the trip, Chris has been hurt for eight weeks and he got to make road trips. I just got hurt last week, but you won't let me go."

Cox is still a vital component on the Bears roster, so it sounds like daddy Dave was able to overcome the obstacle.

On a different note, this is the time of the year when all the local track athletes see just how all their hard work and effort pay off. Many will push themselves harder than ever before...and get nothing. Nothing, that is, except the satisfaction that they gave all they could and put forth the best effort in pursuit of a goal.

In this and upcoming issues of our paper, you will read about the various track and field athletes who surpass meet records and set new standards, but they are the few exceptions to the vast majority of student-athletes who try just as hard.

I'd like to show my appreciation for these tireless students in this column, and let them (and everybody else) know that they are the people who help set those records—by pushing others to do their best. Also, in this case, it really is how you play the game (run the race, clear the bar, put the shot, etc...) not whether you win or lose.

And for those who are not familiar with track and field, these are most-likely the best athletes in the school. Sure, football, basketball and baseball may get more press and more attention, but the real dirty work, the really astounding feats are accomplished on the track and in the field. They say basketball is a mental game, and I agree, but the real mental challenge occurs in track and field. These athletes are both physically and mentally tough.

Good luck athletes of Lake County!

Mitchell just short of spot in State 800-meters

Antioch junior misses trip to State by just 0.5 seconds

Much of the same team members for Antioch will be back at Waukegan's track this time next year.

The Sectional meet May 17 proved to be a learning experience for the Sequoits. Next year, it will be time to shoot for first, second, third, or state qualifying times.

One of those with a good chance is Megan Mitchell. The junior finished third in the 800-meters with a 2:30.0. The second-place finisher was Jenny Martinez of Stevenson with a 2:29.5 and she earned a trip to the state track and field meet.

"I did not think about coming close because I was seeded ninth," said Mitchell of pre-meet expectations.

She had a turning point in her heat when things got crowded at the Waukegan High track.

"I was in this pack of runners and decided to take the lead rather than fall back," said Mitchell. "I try to conserve energy. My goal was to get below 2:30."

"We only had two seniors on this team, so we will come back strong next year," said ACHS coach Kathy Kelly.

Antioch did not figure in the race for the team title, with 28 points. They did beat four others, including Northwest Suburban Conference champ Grayslake.

ACHS junior Emily Levin had her best time in the 300 hurdles with a 50.7.

Sophomore Kelly Stryck competed in three relays.

"We talked her into coming out for the sport and now she is loving it," said Kelly.

Carmel High was not a team factor either, with 13 points. The Corsairs did not have anyone qualify for the state meet this weekend at Eastern Illinois University.

The 800-meter relay team of Megan Kasper, Becky Gundrum, Amisa Adams and Tina Davis was fifth. Kristen Larsen was third in the shot put.

ACHS tennis gets dual win, falls short at NSC

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Antioch's tennis squad outlasted non-conference Harlem Rockford then had a rough go at the North Suburban Conference meet.

Antioch overcame an hour-plus bus ride to down Rockford Harlem 4-3 in non-conference action. The next challenge was the NSC meet at Libertyville. The Sequoits came in with three points after two dual meet wins, but finished with only five and was not a factor in the league tourney.

The Sequoits had outlasted Harlem in a three singles and four doubles format.

Steve Hovey gained a three-set win over Darrell Poasas 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 at No. 1 singles.

"Steve showed great determination, as did the whole team because, everyone was still tired from prom weekend. Poasas tried to bring Hovey to the net with drop shots, but Steve dug deep and found the energy to track everything down," said

ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

J.J. Edwards beat Alberto Goaez 7-5, 6-1 at No. 2 singles.

"J.J. has really turned his season around. He hit a slump a couple of weeks back, but that is all behind him now. J.J.'s serves are coming in hard and well-placed. He has the ability to make those low percentage tight angle shots hit from the baseline that are near impossible to return. J.J. us back and making up for lost time," said Plinske.

The battle at No. 3 singles proved to be a turning point. ACHS's Jeremy Jones beat Chad Fritz 2-6, 7-6, 7-5 with the match score knotted at 3-3.

"Jeremy, a walk-on for Antioch, showed he has a bright future on the team. All season he has been chomping at the bit to show what he could do and he made the most of his chance. His serves played a big role and he was able to frustrate his opponent by tracking down some well-hit shots that probably should have been winners," said Plinske.

The No. 1 doubles team of Eric Lipps and Steve Drengler lost a struggle with Joe Dredge and Mike Reidel 6-1, 6-4.

The No. 2 doubles team of Chris Phillips and Kevin Chudd improved to 11-3 with a win over Max Schmidt and Chad Vincent 7-6 (8-6), 6-4.

The No. 3 doubles team of Andrew Dohrmann and Kevin Ward lost to Matt Frychman and Mike Cassatta 6-3, 6-2. Both ACHS players are juniors.

"If they play over the summer, they should be the team to lead Antioch to victory next year," said Plinske.

A new doubles team of Sebastian Andino and Chris McNamara lost to Chad Carroll and Derrek Lao 6-2, 7-6 (7-3).

In a 5-0 loss to Warren, Edwards challenged Adam Bruschaber before losing 6-4, 6-3 at No. 2 singles.

"His serve was the strongest all year and he was ripping forehands down the line and cross court. Adam forced J.J. to come to the net early in the match and J.J. handled it very well. This was probably J.J.'s best outing all season," said Plinske.

Antioch is at the Deerfield Sectional May 24.

Sequoits' spikers outlast Wildcats

Antioch High prepared for the upcoming boys post-season volleyball tournament with a three-set win over Libertyville.

The Sequoits (4-12 overall) downed Libertyville 15-12, 4-15, 15-7 for the North Suburban Conference win.

Junior Scott Bartleson contributed 19-19 with nine kills and nine solo blocks.

Sophomore Brian Soldano was 17-20 with nine kills and eight solos.

"We lost our intensity in game two. People were down on themselves and not running plays. The end of the first game we started to make plays. Libertyville lost its intensity in the third game," said ACHS coach Heather Coleman.

Antioch battles Deerfield May 26 in the first round of post-season play. A win puts the Sequoits against Mundelein on May 28.

Youth an asset for ACHS soccer

Up-and-coming program sees promising future

Jamie Wismer and the rest of the Antioch High girls soccer players are 100 percent healthy and ready to leave their mark in the upcoming Mundelein sectional tournament.

Wismer, a sophomore, returned to the lineup at the Lake Zurich tournament. After getting readjusted to playing soccer after two weeks off due to a knee injury, she was more than ready against Warren High.

She scored the match's only goal as Antioch (9-5-3) notched the North Suburban Conference win 1-0 May 13.

"It was nice to see her score a goal. We played her in short segments at Lake Zurich to get her ready for the conference match," said ACHS coach Charles Trout.

The winning play came after a corner kick and a pass from a midfielder, Susan Woodruff. Wismer then beat Warren goalie Laura Ross from about 10 yards out.

Wismer has scored 20 goals in her two-year ACHS career.

"The defense was pretty good, as well, especially in the final 90 seconds when the adrenaline was flowing," said Trout.

Junior goalie Kristen Miodonski recorded her sixth shutout.

"Except for the season opener against New Trier when we got rocked, her goals against average is 1.0," said Trout.

Defenders are: Nikky Krawl, Nicki Estop, Jessie Feldmann, Erin Nowak and Tammi Wright. Wright is out of the lineup due to injury.

The senior leaders on this team which has already surpassed last year's victory total are Carrie Gofron and Krawl and are co-captains.

"They are our only two seniors and we rely on them for leadership," said Trout.

Trout commented he was pleased with the third-place finish at Lake Zurich May 10. Antioch earned a 3-3 tie with Lake Zurich, a 0-0 standoff with Buffalo Grove and lost to Maine South.

"Our goal this year was to be competitive in most of our games and take out the New Trier game and we have done that. We are satisfied being fourth seed because we get to play two games at home," said Trout.

Antioch fell to Lake Forest 2-0 in a NSC match May 15.

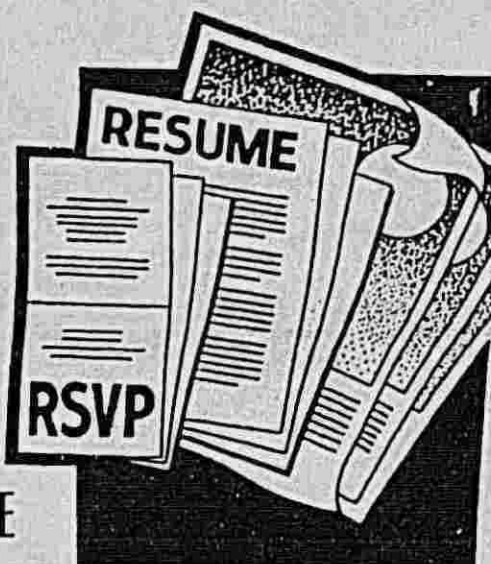

The Sequoits are the fourth seed at Mundelein and host Waukegan May 24 in round one.

My life's motto is: Live life to the fullest

The secret to my success is: To make other people accountable—not just by their words but by their actions

My greatest accomplishments are: Running with the Olympic torch (1996); working for "Big Brother, Little Brother;" and getting married

I want to be remembered as: A man who of his time to others and helped them succeed

My dream job would be: Athletic Director

My most embarrassing sports moment was: Throwing up after running my first cross country meet in college against Colorado State—in Colorado. It was the altitude.

Greatest sports event (local/college/pro) I attended: Drake Relays. Seeing Butch Reynolds in the 400...He was fast!

The greatest thing about the local sports scene is: It gives the students the outlet to express their talents and to achieve success by using and setting goals

Sports are important to me because: I wouldn't be who I am today without them!

Lindenhurst Rockets improves record 4-12

The Lindenhurst Rockets played two games during the past week and improved their record to 4-1-2. The Rockets hosted the Mundelein Magic in an evenly played game and came away with a 1-1 tie. The Rockets scored in the first half on a shot from Katie Lincoln. The ball deflected off a Magic player who tried to clear the ball. The Magic came back in the second half scoring the tying goal with ten minutes left in the game. Outstanding defense by Amy Shouse, Katie Malcolm, Lori Knupp, Kristen Gagne and Becky McBrady kept a fast Magic offense off balance during most of the game.

The Rockets posted their fourth victory of the season over the Barrington Blitz. The Rockets scored first off a Blitz goal kick. Lissa Coby intercepted the kick and drove the ball in for the goal. The Rocket's scored first off a Blitz goal kick. Lissa Coby intercepted the kick and drove the ball in for the goal. The Rocket's second goal was scored on a nice passing play. Tina Washburn crossed the ball over to Lissa Coby. Coby centered the ball to Katie Lincoln who was able to put a foot on the ball and direct it in the net for the goal. The Rockets kept the pressure on during the remainder of the half. Barbara Leal sent a shot in that just missed the upper right hand corner of the goal and the half ended with the Rockets putting the pressure on the Blitz with a potential scoring opportunity. The Blitz came back in the second half mounting several attacks. However, Rocket goalie Jennifer Miehle came up with a several nice saves shutting down the Blitz until the closing seconds of the game.

Other Rocket players turning in outstanding performances during the two games were Callie Check, Melissa DeMeyer, Courtney Ksioszk and Kacie Anderson. The Rockets will be playing in the Park Ridge Memorial Weekend Tournament this weekend.

ACHS netters finish duals with a bang

Antioch High's tennis team finished with a flourish as the Sequoits downed Grant 4-1 in the final regular season dual meet.

J.J. Edwards of Antioch outlasted Grant's Vinnie Desecki 6-7, 6-2, 6-0 at No. 1 singles.

"One of J.J.'s strengths is his determination. He is the type of player that never gives up. He gives 110 percent until the very last point is played out. J.J. made some nice adjustments in this match. They started out rallying, but then J.J. started hitting some low percentage tight angled shots that have served him well the entire year. He pulled ahead in the middle of the second set and never looked back," said ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

Erik Lipps beat Brad Mark of Grant 7-5, 6-4 at No. 2 singles.

"This was a game of serves. Each player held his serve throughout most of the match. The match came down to who could break whose serve. Fortunately for the Sequoits, Lipps was able to do just that. Lipps showed some promise as a singles player," said Plinske.

Chris Phillips and Steve Drengler fell to Mike Traveime and Scott Wold of Grant 7-6, 6-4.

Steve Hovey and Kevin Chudd beat Ben Neuman and Joe Durbin 6-0, 7-6.

"Steve and Kevin played all around solid tennis," said Plinske.

Kevin Ward and Andrew Dohrmann won a three-set battle at No. 3 doubles 6-4, 2-6, 7-3 in a third set tie break.

"The key to this match was rallying. There were very few quick points. Kevin and Andrew learned they had to hit quite a few shots before an opportunity to hit a winner presented itself. They got into trouble when they got over anxious and tried to force shots that were not there," said Plinske.

ACHS softball squad's fortunes improve

When this softball season started in Peoria, the Sequoits will be the first to admit their campaign did not begin as a North Suburban Conference challenger might expect.

They lost all six games, made several errors and came back to lose to Rockford Harlem on a wintry day. Some 25 games later, the Sequoits (9-2 in NSC) are in a final week struggle for the NSC crown with Mundelein and Stevenson.

"We control our own destiny. After the first six losses, we have won 20 of 24 games and have come a long way," said ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

After a 16-0 shellacking of Carmel May 16, Antioch played two tough tests against Zion-Benton. A 2-1 win was followed by an 8-3 victory.

Jamie Silarski saw her mound record improve to 12-5 on the season as she started and finished both games. She allowed just two hits and fanned seven and did not walk a batter in game one.

"The whole team had a nice rhythm to it," said Wapon.

Stephanie Haenchen's third inning double started the inning. She moved to third on a passed ball.

Jenny Minor's sacrifice fly scored her. Angie Pederson, who started the week hitting over .400, tripled to start the fourth. Silarski then singled as she keeps her average above .500.

In game two, Nicole Langley was 3-4 as her average continued to climb past .350. She had two singles, a home run and three RBIs.

ACHS battled Lake Forest and Warren in the final week of the regular season. The May 22 clash is at Warren.

Fire District boat floats for holidays

The First Fire Protection District of Antioch Township is authorized to participate in a joint program of the Antioch Fire Department and Antioch Rescue Squad on three upcoming holidays to improve response times for distressed holiday boat users.

The Fire District boat will be on the Chain of Lakes on Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, and Labor Day weekends.

The boat will be operated by a crew of two firefighters and one or two paramedics. This will allow for a shorter response time to assist other waterway agencies with accidents, fires, or emergencies.

Announcing the decision were Dean Pedersen, President, First Fire Protection District of Antioch; Dennis Volling, Chief, Antioch Fire Department; and, Tim Osmond, Chief, Antioch Rescue Squad.

'For most guys like myself, you drove through the drive-in to show off your car and your date.'

Cruisin'

Skip's Fiesta brings the drive-in era back to life

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
 Editor in Chief

Long for the Friday nights when everybody was cruisin' and showing off their cars at the local drive-in?

Visitors to Skip's Fiesta Drive-In Reunion Car Show, June 1, can step back into the days of their youth at the Lake County Fairgrounds.

This year marks the 15th year the nostalgia car show has been held at the Grayslake facility. The Chicagoland's largest summer auto event draws crowds from throughout the Chicagoland area, as well as southern Wisconsin.

The original Skip's Fiesta Drive-In was at 1st and North avenues in Melrose Park and enjoyed a reputation as the kind of drive-in a cruiser had to arrive at in early afternoon to get a parking spot, according to Joe Beele, founder of the reunion car show.

"For most guys like myself, you drove through the drive-in to show off your car and your date," he said.
 "I've always been a car person and I got to thinking in the early '80s, that it would be great to do a Skip's reunion;
 the idea mushroomed from there and has just taken off like magic."

Beele says at the time he began organizing the car show, there were few in the area that featured the cars of the 1950s, '60s and '70s. "A lot of guys were restoring models from the era, but didn't have a place to show them off and tell their buddies about them," Beele said.

"We draw 300-500 cars from the late 1940s models to the early 1970s," said Beele. "About half of our exhibitors return to the show each year and most come from a 50-mile radius of the fairgrounds."

Cars compete in 50 classes. "One of my favorite classes is the 'young rebels,'" said Beele. "This class is open to car owners 16-19 years of age. It reminds me of being a kid and it's a lot of fun."

Other unique classes will include a Viper Class and a 5.0 Mustang Class.

One of the highlights of the day-long event is the appearance of Dick Biondi, master of ceremonies for Oldies 104.3.

"He spins tunes from the time period to give the show a real nostalgia feel," said Tina Capelle, Beele's daughter, who has been helping to organize the show for many years.
 "Biondi plays 'name that tune' with people and it's just a blast."

"It is truly a festival type atmosphere and a family event," Capelle said. "The car owners love to talk about their cars and how they've restored them and who has worked on them. A lot of the car owners bring a whole display with them about the car and how they have restored it."

Many of the car owners return to the event each year.

In addition to the car show, food vendors at the fairgrounds are open offering typical fair items such as cotton candy, hot dogs, hamburger, sodas and popcorn.

A flea market is held in conjunction with the car show each year.

"We get a variety of vendors from car parts to toys to nostalgia type items," Capelle said.

Admission for the show is $6 for adults, children ages
 6-11 are $2 and under age 6 are free. Parking is free.

Pre-registration to show a car is open through May 24 for $12. Registration the day of the show is $15.

For more information call (630) 682-8792.

Spectators to last year's Skip's Fiesta Drive-In Reunion Car Show admire the restored cars. The annual event brings 300-500 cars from late 1940s to early 1970s models to the fairgrounds. This year's show will be June 1.

Oldies 104.5 disc jockey Dick Biondi plays 'name that tune' with visitors to the show.

Disney to Do for Cruising What It Did For Theme Parks

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

I remember my first visit to Six Flags near St. Louis. I thought that to be the ultimate amusement park. Then I visited Walt Disney World in Orlando. Wow.

Well, that same thing is about to happen to family cruising.

I hesitate, however, to refer to Disney's new Cruise ship, the "Magic" as just a "family" cruise ship.

As with its theme parks, Disney has designed the Magic to attract a large percentage of couples. With 16,000 square feet dedicated solely to children, the Disney Magic has more than ten times the area of other ships for the kids. But, the Magic also offers facilities such as an "adults only" restaurant, swimming pool, and three adult clubs, for couples and singles who would prefer a "non-kid" cruise experience.

By the way, don't confuse the new Disney Cruise Lines with the "Big Red Boat", which also packaged its cruises with a stay at a Disney Resort and, at the one time, even had Disney characters on board. That was owned by Premier Cruises and had no other connection with the Disney Corporation.

Disney is intent on offering a "Hassle-free" vacation. After you step off the plane in Orlando, everything is taken care of for you. You get off the plane and onto a specially designed Disney motor coach. There's no luggage handling at the airport, no standing in line, your carefree vacation has begun. If you've chosen a resort stay before your cruise, you'll find the same key that opens your room is the one you'll use to open your cabin on board ship.

Most cruise ships claim a "Broadway-style theatre. Since the Magic is a Disney Ship, you can bet its theatre is tops. Sit anywhere in the four deck high theatre and you can be assured of a great seat, since Disney designed the theatre with no pillars to block your view. The stage, complete with scenery lifts, is the largest at sea.

Disney, as with many other cruise lines, has its own private island. However, on the other cruise ships you're "tendered" (taken by small boats) from your ship to the island. Since Disney's dock is large enough to accommodate its cruise ships, you just step off the ship and on to the pier.

If a Disney cruise is in your future, make plans now. Even though the first sailing of the Magic isn't until April 6 of next year, many 1998 sailings are already sold out.

Some advice to a Bull from a Bear

Being an avid Chicago Bulls fan I sent the following parody song "Phil's Way" to John Records Landecker, who is the morning deejay on Oldies 104.3 in Chicago. He called me when he received the song and had me sing it on the air (without music).

The fact that I could actually sing must have surprised him, and the radio station asked me to come down to the station, be interviewed on the show and make a recording of it, this time with music.

The radio station has been playing it ever since because of the Bulls' playoffs. Tune in and have a listen!

PHIL'S WAY

(sung to the tune of "My Way")

My friend...The end is near
The finals loom
We're going to need you

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

So, please...Ignore the refs
Or shave your head
So they can't see you

You must...Admit some fault
You don't behave
Much in a shy way

So just shut
Your mouth and play
And do it...Phil's way

Regrets...We've had a few
(Okay—a lot!)

So no, we'll mention
Your hair...Sometimes is blue
Your language, too,
(Beyond redemption)

You've lived...a life that's strange
You've had your face
Up on the highway

Still we implore,
Please help them score
And do it Phil's way.

Just what is a man
Who wears a dress
Makeup and heels...
(You look a mess!)

You're making films
And posing bare
Why can't you see...
We just don't care!

We want to win...
A championship
PLEASE... do it...Phil's Way!

Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on Waukegan's WXLC 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

Promise Keepers come to Soldier Field

Promise Keepers, the Christian men's organization that has drawn more than two million men to stadium conferences throughout the United States since 1991, is returning to Chicago's Soldier Field, May 23 and 24. The conference will mark Promise Keepers' second visit to Soldier Field, having drawn a crowd of 68,972 to the 1996 event.

The Chicago conference represents one of 18 Promise Keepers stadium conferences scheduled for 1997, culminating in a massive gathering of men on the Capitol Mall in Washington, D.C., Oct. 4. Hosted by Promise Keepers, "Stand in the Gap: A Sacred Assembly of Men," will "present men on their knees in humility, then on their feet in unity...helping them become better husbands and fathers," according to Promise Keepers head, Bill McCartney.

Founded in 1991 by former University of Colorado football coach Bill McCartney, the Denver-based Christian organization challenges men to increase their commitment to faith and family, as well as their integrity in career and finance.

While Promise keepers is known mostly for its large stadium conferences, it is the small groups of men that form through local churches after a conference has visited an area that provide the backbone of the organization.

Today, tens of thousands of men, brought together through Promise Keepers, meet together weekly for Bible study, fellowship, encouragement, and accountability in living out the standards set forth in Promise Keepers' "Seven Promises."

Chicago Conference Coordinator Dan Zaretzki said, "We are amazed at the impact Promise Keepers is having on men in the Chicago area. We get reports almost daily from men and their families telling us what a difference last year's Promise Keepers conference and the on-going small Registration is $60. Walk-up registration begins at 1 p.m. Friday. It includes entrance, resource handbook, and 1997 worship tape. For more information or to register call, 1(800)888-7595.

'Fathers' Day' is one funny day

If you're a Robin Williams fan, you'll love the new comedy he and friend Billy Crystal have out.

In "Fathers' Day," the shenanigans of these two top funny men obviously have free reign, ergo their many TV charity appearances together. We seriously doubt the existence of much of a bonafide script for this one, betting on just a plot outline following an old French movie.

When a teenager disappears, his mother, played by Nastassja Kinski, tells two old boyfriends, Williams and Crystal, that each is her son's real father, so they'll look for him.

Williams, an obvious loser, is at his zaniest doing a combo of Sid Caesar, Jerry Lewis and Martin Short, playing a failing writer. Crystal, a sarcastic lawyer who gets his laughs with looks and gestures like so many of the funny/straight men of old, and Julia Louis-Dreyfus are newlyweds. This is an unusual perfectly straight role for the TV comedienne.

Williams and Crystal meet in San Francisco while in search of Scott, played by Charlie Hoffheimer, and all hell breaks loose when they discover they are both carrying the same picture of their son.

Robin Williams and Billy Crystal keep the yaks coming fast enough to make for an enjoyable couple of hours in "Father's Day."—Submitted photo

Though mega stars in their own right, Williams and Crystal bounce jokes well off of each other with Williams' insanity and Crystal's dry witted humor contrasting beautifully, making them one of the best comedy teams around since Martin and Lewis, Abbot and Costello and

Hope and Crosby.

Sure, wherever Williams is, nothing makes much sense, but this is one of the reasons he has been named "The World's Funniest Man," because his kind of nonsense has made people laugh since Charlie Chaplain walked funny, twirled a cane and got a pie in the face.

Here we have a new "Odd Couple," who mesh well despite their differences. After much excitement, they find their would-be son who's in big trouble trying to impress a girl with money he's stolen from drug dealers.

"Fathers' Day" is not the funniest movie we've ever seen, but Williams and Crystal keep the yaks coming fast enough to make for an enjoyable couple of hours and that's what entertainment is all about isn't it?

We give this PG-13 rated flick, 3.5 stars out of five.—by Gloria Davis

Gardening is for children too

Can you imagine any better place for children to have fun than in a garden? Think about it—they can get as dirty as they like and it's OK, mom won't mind. Kids and gardens go together. They love to be outside in the fresh air getting their elbows in the dirt.

Why not set aside a little plot of land for your kid's own garden. The garden is a completely stocked science lab where even the tiniest child can begin learning the basics of botany. They learn how tiny seeds turn into beautiful flowers and good things to eat, and that plants, like kids, thrive on sunlight need food, drink and love.

My daughter helped dig the holes for my five new rose bushes and did a fine job of it. My son loves planting with me and discovering how many juicy worms we'll stumble across. Even my eldest son loves to harvest the vegetables from the garden.

My children know all the names of the herbs I grow in the garden. While cooking dinner I often ask them for a "handful of parsley," or a "pinch of oregano" etc. I think that's a great thing to know. They love to pick their own dinner and they eat healthier food, especially if they have a hand in growing it.

I've spent many summer days gardening with my parents. I got to know my dad really well by working with him in the garden. Working together with your children is a great way to build relationships! It's also a great way to teach responsibility. To show how things flourish with care and how to follow a project through, (and perhaps the consequences of what happens if you neglect something you're responsible for).

This year my 9-year-old wants to grow sunflowers and pumpkins. We already expect a few for carving on Halloween. I hope he won't be disappointed, only time will tell. I'll report back to you in October. We are also planting a balloon vine, a flower with seed pods shaped like balloons! I think he'll (we'll) have fun with that.

I hope you will plant some things with your kids (or grand-kids). You will be surprised what a rewarding experience it will be for all of you. Most kids don't think of gardening as work, they consider it fun whenever you can take the children into the garden with you. My son loves to hand-pick tomato horn worms, and smash them dead! He also appreciates honey bees and knows they pollinate the garden. Show them how you water, weed, fertilize and harvest.

If you are "expecting," plant a perennial, a shrub, or perhaps a rose bush. When the child grows you can show him/her the special plant grown in their honor.

The garden is a special place. Share it with your children, make time now and your children will cherish the memories later.

Until next week, peace.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Gary Sinese plays a convincing Stanley Kowalski to the stunning Lalla Robins as Stella.

'Streetcar' is a winner

Steppenwolf Theatre's timely revival of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire," 50 years after its original staging in New York City, attests to the enduring nature of this awesome, steamy play.

Director Terry Kinney proves the wisdom that great stories bear retelling.

Set in the late 1940s in a rough-and-tumble section of New Orleans, the drama is a case study of two strong egos.

Actor Gary Sinese, a co-founder of the Steppenwolf Company, is convincing as the virulent Stanley Kowalski, a brutish, excitable "survivor of the Stone Age."

He's pitted against Blanche DuBois, his wife's bossy yet helpless sister who is at a dead end in her life. Lalla Robins is stunning in the part, living in a fantasy world of her own creation ("I don't tell the truth; I tell what ought to be").

Other strong portrayals come from Kathryn Erbe as Stella Kowalski, the peacemaker who is willing to roll with the punches (sometimes literally) and John Reilly as Mitch, who, to a point, overlooks Blanche's shortcomings.

The scenic design packs a punch, too. The setting is a dingy two-room flat in the French Quarter, separated by a draw curtain.

There's ornate exterior grillwork, immensely tall, narrow windows and a door that sticks all the time.

"Streetcar," at 1650 N. Halsted, Chicago, runs through June 22, and it's a winner. The play is three and one-half hours long with two intermissions. For ticket information, call (312)335-1650.—by Tom Witom

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

Now is the time to make your move at work. Telling the right people about your ideas puts you in the spotlight — and in line for a promotion. Don't be nervous. Your family is behind you for support. A close friend is there for you when you have a romantic problem.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Be bullish when it comes to meeting new people on Tuesday. Someone who has a lot of influence in the business world will enter your life and present you with a golden opportunity. Don't let it slip away. Loved ones will need your support later in the week. Be there for them.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

It's your turn to shine this week. Your personality wins you favor at work, and you make a lasting impression on a superior. As for romance, your personal life sparkles too. An old friend comes back into your life and introduces you to someone special.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Work gets hectic this week, but don't worry. While you may be overwhelmed at times, you can handle the pressure. Just try to remain calm — even if everything seems to be going crazy. A loved one turns to you in a time of need. Be yourself, and he or she will get all of the support that he or she needs.

Leo — July 23/August 23

You feel more like a lamb than a lion this week, but don't get discouraged. This feeling of insecurity will pass by Friday, and you'll be back to your old self again. Look to a close friend for an encouraging word; he or she will help you keep your chin up. Don't be too shy to strike up a conversation with a co-worker; it could lead to an interesting date.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

The pressure is off of you this week at work. All of your hard work pays off, and the higher-ups finally notice you. Enjoy it, but don't become overconfident. You'll still have to work hard to stand out among your co-workers in the future. That special someone finally makes a move.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

You're in the money this week. You finally finish a project at work, which wins you compliments from co-workers. Your love life blossoms as a friend of a friend asks you out. This is the perfect opportunity to let your personality shine.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Things start to get to you at work this week. It seems as if everyone is against you and everything you do is wrong. Don't get too disheartened. Take some time off to collect your thoughts. A little relaxation is just what you need to rejuvenate yourself.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

Be careful when making important decisions late in the week. Think things through thoroughly, and don't make any hasty decisions. Ask for advice from loved ones if it makes you feel better. A stranger introduces himself or herself to you when you're out with friends. Take it slowly.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

You get the green light to move ahead on an important project at work this week. If you act like a professional — and don't become a control freak — you can have a lasting impact on the company. A loved one takes up most of your free time taking care of a personal problem. Don't get upset; just be supportive.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Life is on the upswing this week. Everything goes well at work, and your manager even comments on your progress. Superiors have their eye on you. As for romance, your new attitude pays off when it comes to the opposite sex. Your phone will be ringing off the hook.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

You feel like a fish out of water early in the week. While you go through the same daily routine as always, things will seem different, and you'll feel out of place. Don't get worried. The feeling will pass by the end of the week. Just try to stay focused and relaxed.

The best steaks and seafood grilled over charcoal briquettes

Great dining at the Backyard Steak Pit

Sit back and relax in the Western Style, candlelit, casual dining atmosphere of the Backyard Steak Pit. Whether it is steaks or seafood, the chefs will prepare your meal to order. And, with the huge number of selections, even the fussiest eater will be delighted. Begin with one of the "Startin' roundups." Topping the lineup is the onion loaf, which is sliced onions deep-fried into a block. Try the out-of-this-world homemade soups, prepared daily.

The Backyard Steak Pit, a family owned restaurant since January 1985, is co-owned by Keith and Mike, who are particularly proud of the steak, prime rib and seafood entrees.

The restaurant has received the "People's Choice Award" as the best Steak House in Lake County for 1994-95-96, and 97. The Backyard Steak Pit is home to colossal meals. Any hearty appetite will be satisfied with the colossal sirloin or colossal porterhouse, 32 ounces of top choice beef, or if seafood is your preference, the Backyard Steak Pit lobster tails are bigger than most, averaging 16 to 25 ounces.

All of their steaks are grilled on an authentic charcoal briquette grill. They hand cut top choice of prime beef daily to assure freshness and quality. Steak dinners start at $8.95, and include baked potato, salad bar, Texas or garlic toast.

Seafood lovers will be in paradise. The 10-ounce cold water lobster tail served with drawn butter is fresh from ship-to-shore, to you. The filet of cod fish is a loin cut steamed and also served with drawn butter. The menu includes fresh red salmon filet, fresh mahi mahi, and breaded shrimp.

Other treats on the menu include the corral combos. Combinations of lobster and steak, shrimp and steak, ribs and chicken, or ribs and steak. For those with lighter appetites, we offer smaller cuts of steak or try one of the grub on a slab sandwiches served with French fries, dill pickle spear, and cole slaw. Children under 12 benefit from the children's menu, featuring a variety of delicious meals to choose from.

The Backyard Steak Pit has banquet facilities available for up to 70 people, with packages available. All menu items are available for carry out. Call (847) 356-5200 for more information or for party details.

Condell Medical Center board members, auxiliaries, members of the medical staff, underwriters, business and civic leaders danced through the "Celebrate Spring" kick-off Benefit Gala 6 at the 13-acre Libertyville estate of Roman and Dr. Eva Buch.

The annual Benefit Gala, which will raise funds to support Cardiology Services and the new cardiac catheterization laboratory at the Medical Center in Libertyville, will play to the heartstrings of supporters to contribute to cardiac care for Lake County residents.

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the Flight For Life (FFL)-Northern Illinois helicopter program at the Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry. Since its inception in 1987, the Northern Illinois helicopter services has flown nearly 3,000 patient flights. People whose lives have been touched by FFL are invited to help celebrate 10 years of service at a patient/crew reunion.

Former patients will have the opportunity to meet the flight teams who cared for them during transport. The reunion will be held June 21 at the Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry. Patients or family members who were transported by FFL and would like to be a part of this reunion should send a postcard with your name and address by June 9 to:

GSH senior transportation service extends hours

Good Shepherd Hospital's popular Senior Transportation Service, which celebrated its first anniversary, has extended its hours of service and reduced the cost per ride in response to customer needs. The service is designed for the convenience of people over age 55 living in the hospital's service area who need a ride to hospital facilities.

Because of its popularity, the bus services has extended its hours to 4 p.m. The service is available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The van is wheelchair accessible. Reservations must be placed at least 24 hours before a scheduled pick-up. Reservations are first-come, first-served.

Cost for the service has also been changed to a low $5 for people over age 55—regardless of whether they ride round-trip or one-way! For people under age 55, the fair is $5 each way. Exact fare is required at time of pick-up, however, cash or personal checks are accepted.

"Good Shepherd created the van service in response to requests from older adults in our community who wanted economical transportation to the hospital for health care services," said Julie Mayer, older adults services coordinator. "They also told us they needed transportation designed for their needs, such as wheelchair accessibility and driver assistance getting on and off the vehicle."

Since the program began in April of 1996, more than 1,000 older adults have used the service.

"We're very pleased with its (service) popularity," said Mayer. "It's another example of how Good Shepherd is continuously working with members of the community to design services that meet their needs."

Good Shepherd's van provides transportation for seniors needing to come to the hospital's campus for cardiac rehabilitation, outpatient testing, oncology treatment, psychiatric day programs, physical therapy, physician appointments, to visit a patient or attend a community education program. The bus route includes the Good Shepherd Hospital campus, Doctor's Office Buildings, and hospital affiliated buildings.

Parents ask how to handle child's adoption issues

Dear Dr. Singer, We have two kids. One of our children is adopted (10-years-old) and the other is natural (8-years-old.) We are concerned about both behavioral and emotional problems we have been seeing with our adopted child. We are hearing things from him like, "you love the other child more." This breaks our hearts since naturally, we love them both equally.

The other thing that has come up is his desire to know more about his biological parents. We are afraid to let him know too much. We don't want to lose him one day. These days it seems too easy to happen. Do you ever work with people on adoption issues and if so, can you give us some hints of how to look at and work with this. B.R.

Dear B.R.,

I work with adoption issues regularly and do have some things I'd like you to know. First, understand that I have a great sensitivity to adoption and all it involves, however, I believe that there is a certain amount of behavior and comments from kids who have been adopted that reflects a desire to attain a goal. In plain English, I have met a lot of adoptive kids who have told me straight out that to get their way at home, they would say anything they needed to including the comment you mentioned in your letter. This does not mean that all adoptive kids do this on a regular basis, nor does it mean that if an adoptive child says these kinds of comments, that there are no real feelings involved.

One of the problems I have seen in working with parent and kids from adoptive homes is what I call, "over-ingratiating." This is where parents feel very sensitive to making sure that the adoptive child loves them as much as possible and what follows is a complete lack of holding that child responsible for any behavior. Anything the child wants, the child gets.

I have met with hundreds of families in this situation and find that the motivating thought behind this behavior is that someday this child will up and leave, to find the "real" parents if the child has not had every whim indulged by the adoptive parents. This can cause a tremendous problem later in life for both parents and children.

Both adoptive and natural children need to be able to survive as adults. This survival is dependent on meeting standards and expectations as a child. If the child has had people catering to him or her during his or her childhood, that child will expect that the rest of the world will do the same and it just doesn't work that way. I will make some specific suggestions at the end of this column for how to avoid this or how to repair this if it is happening in your home.

What about the emotional part? This is a tough one because you are correct in your assessment of the current climate of adoption in this country. The "Baby Richard," case was not long enough ago for anyone to have forgotten what occurred in that situation. The heartbreak was significant all around. I can only speak to what I have seen and heard from my own clients.

First, I may be wrong, but I believe that all past records are sealed and the child is not able to know any of that information, at least from the agency standpoint, until 18 years old. You would need to check with a lawyer on that one. Now I have seen cases in which the agency gives information to a younger teenager upon significant request. When I saw this done, it caused more harm than good because the child was too young emotionally to handle it.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

If your child wants to know things about his or her biological parents and background it is not necessarily an insult to you or your devotion.

In fact, the kids I have seen, who get answers without hesitation and trauma are usually calmer about the whole thing than the kids who are resisted on that information. It becomes more of a power struggle, in that the child feels that something of his belonging, namely his past, is being held away from him.

I will also say that in the families I have seen, the kids who are told selected information at a younger age have done better with it.

For example, I saw a family with an 8-year-old who had known she was adopted since the time she could talk and had had limited questions answered about her adoption by age 8. She was fine with the whole thing and really had very little desire to find her biological parents. Her comment was, "these are the people who have raised me since I was just about born and these are my parents."

Contrast that with a boy who had not been told he was adopted until 10 years old and had had every request for information denied in fear. He became very angry at his parents and exhibited signs of depression and acting out.

I'm certainly not recommending any specific age that you should be telling your child or answering questions. You know your child better than I do and you also know the history and what is appropriate and inappropriate to tell. You need to use your better judgment.

I would highly suggest that any significant discussion that gets done about this issue be done in connection with some type of counseling, especially if you are feeling unsure or afraid of how to approach it.

The child does not necessarily have to see the counselor, but to get some direction you should do that. Certainly, if the child wants to be involved in that or if there are serious behavioral or emotional concerns, the child should be in counseling too.

Here are some guidelines that I have found to work well with families I have worked with: (These are only guidelines and you should really seek professional help if you have questions or concerns about any step you are planning to take.)

1. Make sure that when approaching any behavior, you have a behavior program set up so that nothing is ever subjective, only objective. In other words, if you have program with known rules that everyone needs to follow and they are posted in plain view with appropriate consequences and privileges based on those rules, there is very little room for interpretation and thus very little room for comparing of biological to adopted kids.

If you are unsure of what constitutes appropriate consequences and privileges, you should seek counseling.

2. Make sure to treat all children in your home equally.

3. Do not play the extortion game. Do not allow any children in your home to get things from you by threat of anything including leaving, finding real parents, etc. If you give in to that kind of extortion, it will only grow. Make sure to deal with it appropriately up front.

4. Do not give more to gain favor.

What you will gain is a large problem later.

5. If questions are asked about biological parents or backgrounds, do not panic. Do not let your child see you looking rattled about it. If you need more time to think, let the child know in a calm way, that you will gather the information you feel is appropriate and then will present it to him.

If you shut him off in a panicked way, he will get the message that his feelings about this are unimportant to you. He will also see that it is a way to push your buttons and that will be used again. He will also feel a need to protect his own dignity by pushing it harder, thus your power struggle.

After he asks and you tell him you need to gather information, this is the time to see the counselor on your own and get some help with how to pursue this.

6. If you are noticing the child having emotional problems around this issue, get counseling immediately.

7. This is the hardest one of all.

Many adoptive parents have a worst fear in common. The fear that the child will eventually find the biological parents and decide to go.

I don't know how often this actually happens, but I do know that I have seen kids research the biological parents and find them a couple times.

It will relieve you to know that in the times I have seen it, the child found the biological parents through under-ground ways (want ads, Internet, etc.) but each and every time, once they found them and got questions answered, they came back and were content to be where they grew up. I think most kids don't want to leave.

It's more about a curiosity and need for knowledge. In the case where the older child (post 18) leaves and doesn't come home, there is a point in time where all parents have to say, "we did the best we could," and hope they make the right decisions.

This is why the above comments are so important now. Have a good level of expectations and respect in your home and the rest follows.

8. Above all, if you are unsure or feeling like there is a big problem brewing, get help now. If you are interested in speaking further about this please call me.

"WE'LL GIVE YOU THE ONE THING THAT'S MOST LIKELY TO HELP YOU MAKE A BETTER DECISION: CHOICES."

THEODORE E. DESCH, SENIOR VP,
LAW & CORPORATE AFFAIRS

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois we've never tried to tell a client what to do. We respect our clients more than that. We respect their ability, their right, in fact, to make up their own minds. We trust their good sense about which health care plan might be best for their individual companies.

To us, the best way to grow and prosper - and our numbers prove this - is to offer more options than any other managed care company. More kinds of health plans at competitive rates. Smarter networks. More cost-effective ways to provide people with access to the finest doctors and hospitals in Illinois.

In my experience, business owners expect to be allowed the last word. Whether they're specifying machine tools, carpet colors or health care coverage. They require the control that comes with freedom of choice.

No health insurance company understands that better than we do. And no one has the breadth of products and people to deliver it better than we do."

Dutch Gardens' moves but quality same

For 17 years, Paul Beemsterboer saw to it that the products and service coming from the Dutch Gardens at Rtes. 45 and 120 were of the highest quality. In the last year, Margie Chostner has joined Paul in keeping that promise a top priority by becoming a partner in Dutch Gardens.

This year, all that quality is still available at the Dutch Gardens now located at the southeast corner of Sand Lake Road and Rte. 45, one mile north of Grand Ave. in Lake Villa. Now, during planting season, the garden center is a veritable rainbow of color, with every bedding plant imaginable offered. Everything for your garden can be found there including nursery stock, perennials, annuals, bulbs and seeds. Both Margie and Paul are at your service when it comes to quality landscaping design.

Ask about the quantity discounts, meaning the more you buy the better the individual price. The Mix and Match Sale is also on. Check with a member of the Dutch Gardens' knowledgeable, experienced and friendly staff for more Mix and Match information.

The former location at Rtes. 45 and 120 was a vegetable farm operated by his family while Paul was growing up. Nursery stock and flowers came later and after Paul graduated from college, he started the Dutch Gardens there.

The Dutch Gardens is open Tuesday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. For more information, call (847)265-6352.—by Gloria Davis

Cutting gardens—beautiful accents from yard to house

If you'd like to turn your landscape into a homescape, try a cutting garden. Cutting gardens may contain just about any plant, tree, shrub or flower, as long as it's suited to grow in your environment. And, the cuttings will brighten your home for the entire growing season.

Cutting gardens are relatively new to the United States, but they're rapidly increasing in popularity. They add natural color and beauty to the landscape while growing outdoors and, once cut and moved indoors, add warmth and personality to any household.

Growing a cutting garden is a unique practice because the garden is grown specifically to be cut and brought indoors for decoration. Once started, it is not difficult to maintain. But, it is important to start out right with healthy seedlings that are suited to your environment, fertile soil, ample sunlight and regular waterings.

Planting the cutting garden

As with any garden, only plants suited to your soil and climate will grow with health and little maintenance. Check with a local extension agent for a list of flowers, shrubs, trees and any other plants that are well-suited to your region. Then, select a variety of plants from this list. If you're limited on garden space, select a few flowering plants with colors that coordinate with the interior of your house. A few colorful favorites that grow around the country are marigolds, zinnias, baby's breath, black-eyed Susans and geraniums.

Once you've selected the plants for your cutting garden, you must select a good planting site and prepare the soil. For flower beds, choose a site that receives at least six to eight hours of sunlight a day. The soil should drain well and be rich in nutrients. To organically add nutrients to the soil, apply three to six inches of peat moss or compost and a balanced organic fertilizer over the soil. Then, till or spade the area to a depth of eight to 12 inches.

Now that the soil is ready, spread a landscape fabric over the bed. Experts recommend one that blocks sunlight and helps the soil retain moisture, such as WeedBlock by Easy Gardener. When the fabric is in place, cut small x's or circles in the fabric, then plant the seedlings directly into the soil. Water the seedlings weekly, about one to one and one-half inches, to ensure healthy growth.

Cutting the cutting garden

Once your plants reach maturity, they can be cut for indoor arrangements. But, before you head out to the garden, gather a pair of gloves, a sharp floral knife or scissors, and a clean bucket half-filled with lukewarm water.

The best time to cut plants and flowers is early morning or early evening. Each stem must be cut at an angle then immediately placed stem-down in the bucket of water. Try to cut flowers with at least 10-inch stems, so that you can trim them as needed for your arrangement.

When you've collected all the plants and flowers you want, carry your bucket of cuttings inside and spray them with an antitranspirant spray, such as Plant Saver by

Easy Gardener. Spraying freshly-cut plants and flowers with Plant Saver will ensure water retention and reduce stress on plants after they have been cut, helping them stay and look fresher longer.

Then, allow the flowers to stand in deep water in a cool place for several hours or overnight.

Before arranging, trim each stem again, this time holding it under water while you cut. Cut it at a sharp angle to allow more surface area for water to enter.

Arranging fresh flowers

Before making your cutting arrangement, thoroughly clean your vase with bleach, then rinse it well. If your vase is large, you may want to place floral foam in the bottom to hold the stems in place.

Begin by filling your vase with room temperature water. The first flowers to use should be the tallest and the primary color in the arrangement. Always use odd numbers of each flower or color to create a strong, visual pattern.

Once the larger flowers are in place, add the secondary flowers of coordinating colors. Finish the arrangement by adding small accents, such as baby's breath, ornamental grasses or evergreen clippings.

Then, place your arrangement anywhere in your home where it will receive plenty of fresh air, sunlight and praise from all who see it.

Plants add value to communities

- Landscaping can add between seven and 14 percent to a home's value.
- Landscaping can have a recovery value of 100 to 200 percent at selling time.
- A mature tree can often have an appraised value of between $1,000 to $10,000.
- Landscaping increases property values, which add to the community's tax base.

- Landscaping can speed the sale of homes by five to six weeks.
- A single urban tree can provide up to $273 a year in air conditioning, pollution fighting, erosion and storm water control, and wildlife shelter benefits.

Whither Lake County: Economic vitality makes growth necessary

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

It's a wonderful life or is it in Lake County?

Remember the famous scene in the Christmas classic when George

Bailey learns what it would have been like had he not been there to help people buy homes in Bedford Falls? Newly-elected Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas says he thinks of that scene when confronted with the issue of how growth should affect his town.

"You have to grow because every year you lose some of the community's old-timers," Pappas said. "If you don't have houses for new people to move into, then the community will die out."

Pappas believes that translates into quality of life.

"You can't close the doors and say this is what the community is today and it will always be like this. Growth and change are part of the future of every town, if it is to survive. You need homes for children to grow-up and move into."

Pappas believes it is a delicate growth is to welcome developers to the area, believes he can control the impact of development by working with land planning experts and taking a lessons-learned approach from neighboring communities.

"We are going to bring a land planner in and learn from the voice of experience," he said. "This village has never done a cost appraisal on whether or not it is a benefit to the village to grow. What we need are figures which will indicate to us how many dollars in retail sales are needed to support the growth and the increased demand for village and other public services, such as schools."

But, planning and controlling growth can be a double-edged sword as many villages and members of the Lake County Board have found over the past several years.

WHITHER LAKE COUNTY? Third in a four-part series

You can't close the doors and say this is what the community is today and it will always be like this. Growth and change are part of the future of every town, if it is to survive.

Jim Pappas

balance between growth in rooftops and growth in commercial areas, both of which are needed to bring the other.

"You need residents to bring jobs and you need jobs to bring residents," he said. "If you don't have a base of employees in the area, then you won't attract businesses to develop there."

Pappas, who says his position on

In February 1997, the Bell Federal Bank of Chicago reported Lake County lead the housing construction starts in the collar counties with 37 homes under construction with a projected value of $5.4 million. A year earlier, Lake County recorded 43 new home starts during the month of February.

An update to the county's framework plan in 1994 changed property zoning of many undeveloped parcels

Pam Newton, Chair
Lake County Board Planning and Zoning Committee

to better control future growth.

But the plan also endorses the need for growth and sets goals to achieve.

In housing, the plan indicates "Lake County would lead the Chicago region in providing a full range of housing types and prices available to all segments of the region's population."

Under terms of the plan, the county hopes to offer developers incentives for creating developments near existing transportation centers. It also points out that changes to school funding are necessary to ensure school district boundaries would not be economic barriers between communities. The state legislature is currently grappling over plan for school funding reform.

But, how do politicians control housing quality?

"Villages have a right to plan, but the land owner also has a right to develop his property," Pappas said. "We have to have zoning laws and building regulations in place that protect the land owners, the neighbors and the village."

Lake County Board Planning and Zoning Committee Chair Pam Newton agrees with Pappas' statement.

"We have to have the people in place to ensure builders have a standard to adhere to," she said. It is one driving force behind the county's unified development ordinance due for public hearings this summer.

The ordinance addresses the need for tighter control of zoning and the mixing of open space within a development commonly referred to as conservation development.

"I think you can label most politicians in the county as voting for economic development, not pro-growth or anti-growth" Newton said. "We want dialogue with builders and developers and we want to be able to reach compromise and how the county should look in the future."

One Gurnee home builder says consumers are the key to controlling growth as well.

"Builders will continue to put up cookie-cutter subdivisions, quickly as long as consumers are willing to buy them," said Derek Lidstrom, who builds custom homes. "The price of land is a driving factor in the way subdivisions end up looking. Land in Lake County is at a premium and that increases the price of homes substantially. Many builders will not sacrifice profit for aesthetics, especially if consumers don't demand it and municipalities don't regulate it."

Bono relishes legislator role, may seek U. S. Senate seat

By RHONDA BURKE
Editor in Chief

"I am a Congressman, not a politician," said Sonny Bono, who today wants to be simply known as a Republican citizen legislator from the state of California.

Bono, who remains best-known as the jilted half of the popular singing duo, Sonny and Cher, brought in the largest ever crowd for the 35th annual Republican Federation of Lake County dinner, Friday night.

"When I was first elected to Congress (in 1994) there was this attitude of what is he doing here," Bono said. "But, other members of Congress believe in the elective process and took me under their wing and showed me how to be a Congressman, one of those guys was Phil Crane."

Bono credits fellow Congressman such as Crane and Henry Hyde (R- Dist. 6-Addison) for showing him the ropes.

"If you have any other reaction than humility when you walk up the capital steps as a member of Congress, then you shouldn't be there," Bono said. "I go there everyday and it's still an honor. I've always used logic and common sense in my approach to life, it's a lesson I was taught from my father. What ever you're supposed to do at home, apply it to your job—never lie to get yourself elected."

Bono kept the capacity crowd laughing and reminiscing during his hour-long speech in which he concentrated on how he came to enter and leave the entertainment business and his common-man approach to bureaucracy which lead him to seek the mayor's seat in Palm Springs, Calif. and then on to Congress.

On entering the entertainment business:

"I grew up in Detroit and moved to LA in the late 1950s. All I ever wanted to be was a songwriter. I was delivering meat off a cart down the streets of LA and I traded a fellow meat man a week's pay to do his Monday route down Sunset Blvd. There were several record producers on the block and each Monday I'd go in with a new song and sing it for them.

One Monday, I'm in this studio, where Little Richard is on the label, and they have this young black artist who is currently singing gospel that wants to be the next Little Richard. The record producer likes his song but the owner doesn't. I'm standing there with my bloody meat cutting apron on waiting to sing my weekly song and the owner starts balling these two out. He tells the artist and the record producer they can take their song to another label because it's crap and proceeds to fire them both. To further embarrass them, he hires me as his next producer right in front of them. I felt bad for the fellows, because I liked them, but I took the job.

By the way, the singer was Sam Cooke and the song was "You Send Me," needless to say I never thought I'd end up in politics.

Bono says politics and show business have a lot in common.

"In both businesses you're either hot-hot or cold-cold," he said.

"I had a successful career with that woman and our show, which I produced, was number three on television then she decides to fire me and sing alone and I'm out of a job," Bono said, bringing the crowd to a roar.

"After that I set the record for the most 'Fantasy Island' guest star spots.

It was on the set of Fantasy Island that Bono said God told him his days in show biz were over.

"I'm waiting in the trailer all week to do my one line, and I say, 'It's a great day, Pontoon' (instead of Tattoo) and the little guy just goes nuts. He started balling me out and I'm thinking I've written ten gold records and produced a top show on television and I'm being balled-out by a midget. So I said, thanks God, I'm out of here."

Following his abrupt departure from show biz, Bono opened a restaurant "because he loved to cook pasta."

"If I could give anyone advice, it would be: if you have baggage from the past drop it, because you can never go on from there until you do," Bono said. "Once you drop the baggage, nice things will begin happening to you again."

On family values:

"I met my wife, Mary, at the restaurant and it was love at first sight. I was 50 and she wanted to have kids. I thought I can't do this, but then I came back to everything I was raised on and discovered I had been awestruck in LA, like a lot of people and I had drifted way beyond my values. So we moved to Palm Springs and we had kids," Bono said. "Today, I have a family life like I have never had in my adulthood." The Bonos have two children ages 6 and 9.

Bono made the decision to run for Mayor of Palm Springs after fighting with city hall over getting a permit to remodel his home and new restaurant. He also made one unsuccessful attempt at running for U.S. Senator and is contemplating another run for the U.S. Senate.

He was reelected in 1996 with 58 percent of the vote.

"I love my job," Bono said. "There has never been a more important time than now for us to be concerned about the constitution of the United States and its integrity. We have to stay involved and we have to get good people back into government."

Sonny Bono speaks to reporters at a press conference before the Lake County Republic Federation annual spring dinner, Friday. Bono drew a capacity crowd of 773 to the annual event, topping the previous crowd enjoyed by House Speaker Newt Gingrich.—

Exchange Club names policeman of the year

The Exchange Club of Waukegan held its annual Policeman of the Year luncheon May 13. Each year, members of the Waukegan Police Dept. are nominated by their peers for the "Officer of the Year" and the "Patrolman of the Year." This year's recipients are Sgt. Robert Kerkorian for "Officer of the Year" and Ptl. Bill Valko as the "Patrolman of the Year."

Sgt. Robert Kerkorian is a 10 year veteran of the Waukegan Police Force and has served in many capacities in the department and presently is the Commander of the Gang Unit. He is truly a professional representative of our force. He treats his subordinates with respect and in return the officers in his command respect his judgment and his ability. Kerkorian is always enthusiastic about the job and his enthusiasm is reflected in all of those that work with him. He is called upon to speak to various church groups, schools, and civic organization and is always willing to accept this opportunity to tell our citizens about what we are doing about gangs.

Officer Bill Valko has worked for the Waukegan Police Dept. for the past 21 years. He works well with others and has the ability to see "The Big Picture." Valko is a diligent worker and is an established leader among his fellow officers. He has established an effective line of communication between the City of Waukegan, The Chief's office and the department. It is obvious that this officer enjoys the officers of his chosen profession. He eagerly accepts a challenge and his quiet laugh and pleasant smile are infectious. When anyone is in need, it is usually this officer who extends the "First Helping Hand."

"Sgt. Kerkorian" and Patrolman Valko are excellent choices said, Chief Scott Bursleson. He also expressed his thanks to Exchange Club for their program of the "Policeman Officer and Patrolman of the Year" and the luncheon. This is the 17 year that the Exchange Club of Waukegan has honored our officers.

The Waukegan Exchange Club holds its annual Policeman of the Year luncheon on the 2nd Tuesday in May of each year. Our number one priority is the Prevention of Child Abuse. We serve the community in many ways through out Benevolent Fund. The Exchange Club of Waukegan meets each Tuesday at noon—Bonnie Brook Clubhouse at 2800 N. Lewis Ave. in Waukegan. Anyone interested in attending a meeting, call our President George Lawrence at 244-1300.

'Baby tornado' hits Gurnee

GURNEE—For one Westgate resident, the Sunday night storms reminded him of hurricanes he previously experienced in Florida.

Others had seen the type of roof, garage and backyard furniture damage before. They cleaned up while wondering how their lives could be adjusted so much in just a small amount of time.

"The path of the storm damage was very curious. There was very spotty damage," Brad Burke, village spokesperson, said.

James Hayner, Gurnee Admin. said Emergency Services and Disaster Agency personnel toured the heavily hit areas the next day. The storm was described by officials as a "baby tornado."

Community ripped by storm

LINDENHURST—Village officials estimate at least 100 trees were leveled and 90 homes were damaged from a tornado, Sunday night.

The winds which produced these storms hit a little bit after 7 p.m. May 18. The damage appears to almost be a straight path running from north to southeast, according to Karen Rydberg, the village's disaster coordinator.

"It sounded like a freight train. It took about 7 seconds," said resident Mark Hanley after surveying blown shingles, a collapsed tree and damaged back porch.

No one was injured and no homes were destroyed.

However, Rydberg noted at least six homes were seriously damaged, seven cars and two boats were damaged.

Wrestler up for auction

LAKE ZURICH—A 1984 Olympic silver medalist in wrestling is offering to have lunch with the highest bidder at Festival Express, an auction benefit with proceeds supporting the Second Annual Ela Festival of Arts at Lake Zurich.

Andy Rein, 39, of Hawthorn Woods, says he is willing to talk about anything during lunch, adding it would be a real treat for any young wrestler to pick up some great tips.

The auction will be held Tuesday, June 3, from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at Julio's Latin Cafe, 99 S. Rand Rd. It is open to the public at $17.50 per person. Reservations can be sent to the Lake Zurich Area Chamber of Commerce, 52 E. Main St., Lake Zurich.

Scientists named inventors of year

ABBOTT PARK—Four Abbott scientists have been named "Inventor of the Year" for the discovery of HIV protease inhibitors for use in the treatment of AIDS. Norvir, as the drug is called, is one of the strongest in a new class of drugs, called protease inhibitors, available to people with HIV and AIDS.

The four include: Drs. Chen Zhao and Dale J. Kempf of Libertyville, Hing L. Sham of Mundelein and Daniel W. Norbeck of Crystal Lake. The four were named Inventors of the Year by the Intellectual Property Law Association in Chicago, May 15, in ceremonies at the Palmer House. The group received the same award from the national Intellectual Property Owners Association in Washington D.C. in April.

Although power was out for less than three hours, students and teachers were sent home for an impromptu three-day weekend.

Village to begin bike patrol

ROUND LAKE PARK—Village board members approved the village's first ever police bike patrol unit.

The bike patrol is a component of the village's efforts at community policing. This approach calls for the community to take a share of the responsibility for finding solutions to crime and neighborhood concerns.

The patrol's main focus is to make more positive contacts with village citizens so they can have a more positive image of police officers thereby effectively reducing criminal activity.

It also can provide access to areas squads cannot reach.

Waterfalls to honor contracts

ANTIOCH—Antioch Village officials will provide a liquor license to the Waterfalls Restaurant, at Route 173 and Tiffany Road, on a case-by-case basis to permit it to honor banquet contracts signed on or before May 16. The liquor license will be valid for liquor sales in the banquet area only.

The situation remains fluid, however, as court activities related to commingled issues of bankruptcy and license revocation continue.

To honor existing contracts, alcohol can be served in the banquet facility only as of May 16. If it is served in the restaurant or dance hall areas, the Antioch Police Department has instructions to shut the business down.

LMV mayors stress cooperation

MUNDELEIN—The mayors of Libertyville, Mundelein and Vernon Hills all agreed that growth, traffic flow and education concerns, are among the immediate, key issues facing the three communities. The mayors of the three villages shared their thoughts on these topics at the LMV Chamber of Commerce monthly meeting on Tuesday, May 20.

Village plans traditional parade

GRAYSLAKE—The traditional Memorial Day Parade in Grayslake will once again be held on Memorial Day beginning at 9:30 a.m. The parade travels from Grayslake High School, south on Lake Street to Junior Avenue, to Memorial Park.

Veteran Richard Anderson, a former village trustee and president of the College of Lake County, will give the keynote address. There will also be an invocation by a local clergyman.

In case of rainy weather the services will be held in the high school gymnasium. For additional information contact the village hall at 223-8515.

Libertyville seniors to be honored

LIBERTYVILLE—Eighteen Libertyville senior citizens will be the first inductees into the Libertyville Senior Citizen Hall of Fame Thursday, May 22.

The eighteen inductees will be honored at a recognition tea, to be held at the Senior Center in Libertyville May 22. Mayor Duane Laska will present the awards and a keynote address will be given by William Madole. Madole served as a village trustee for 15 years, a volunteer fireman for 25 years and has served in numerous other volunteer capacities.

Budget nets employees 3 percent

FOX LAKE—Propelled by the communication-oriented direction of the newly-seated "Fox Lake Forward" slate, the village's board passed the 1997-1998 budget with expenditures in new key areas.

While the budget remains balanced, the general fund is set at $3,086,398, an increase of 16 percent from the previous year, with added revenue generated by village growth without any anticipated raise in taxes. Other key items included an immediate 3-percent raise for the Village's 40 non-unionized employees and $50,000 in funding for the Atwater bridge project.

Des Plaines plan taxpayer friendly

More taxpayer friendly: is the best way to characterize the difference between the Des Plaines River flood control plan offered by the County of Lake than the federal government approach that requires forest preserve land already brought and paid for by the citizens.

The county plan not only utilizes more private property to be purchased with mostly federal monies, it also stresses storage in low areas, making it more environmentally friendly as well.

There also is a huge cost difference. County officials have estimated that Des Plaines flooding can be controlled for an estimated $60 million while the federal approach, incorporating a network of reservoirs, levees and berms would require an outlay of about $80 million.

Forest preserve officials said the fed plan, drawn by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, would require 1,000 acres of forest preserve land. The county plan, devised with assistance from the state, utilizes only 205 acres of forest preserve. Although both plans are meant to accomplish the same end, the county plan for taming the Des Plaines seems much preferred.

Man's best pal not best neighbor

Somewhere, an attorney with an excess of time and a light case load, is studying how to turn a hassle in Buffalo Grove into gainful employment. The way we see it, it's a case of outright discrimination. A chip shot for a creative legalist. An out of court settlement, at the very least.

Only the objects of discrimination aren't complaining. They may whine a little, but they don't talk. Mostly they lay around, waiting for a handout. They spend a lot of time indoors, minding their own business. Home is a castle. They're objects of affection. Kind words, pats on the head. Stuff like that. No job. No obligations.

Now a group of Buffalo Grove residents want their village government to clamp a muzzle on two of man's best friends, cuddly Rottweilers and meek, mild-mannered pit bulls. They insist that Rottweilers and pit bulls, known more formally as American Staffordshire Terriers, are at the root of a rash of dog bites and should be curbed with special legislation. Officials refused to be stamped into special legislation and have opted for a study on what constitutes "good canine citizenship" in the process of modifying the vicious dog ordinance.

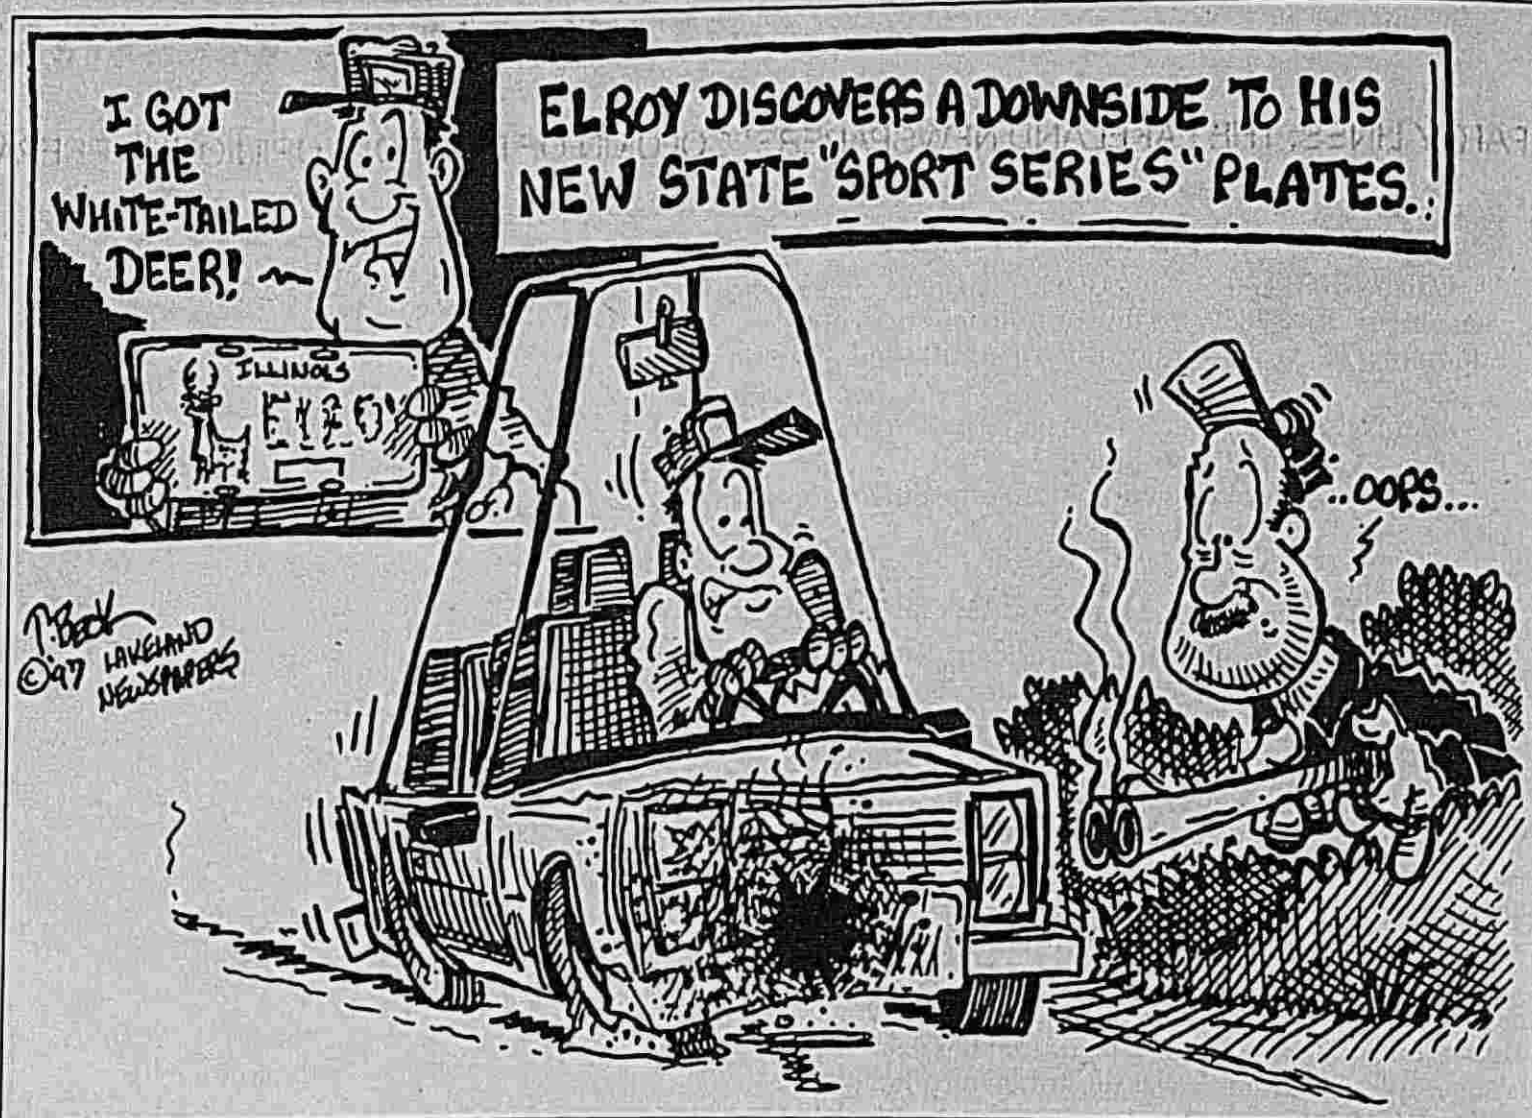

If only the alledged offenders could do more than bark and bite. They'd undoubtedly give us an earful about how it's like to lead a dog's life.

Times change, Graham the same

F.T. "Mike" Graham defies the image of a political leader who changes with the times. In Graham's case, he remains the same. It's the times that change. So it was that voters turned back the hands of time in returning Graham, often referred to as the Father of Lake County's Open Space Movement, to the office of Libertyville Township supervisor, a post he held 20 years ago.

At his first meeting after an absence of eight years, Graham hardly skipped a beat, talking about the same things he always has—open lands preservation, economy in government and helping citizens in need through the auspices of general assistance.

While bolstering the county's obvious movement to slower, more orderly growth, Graham will be facing one reality fraught by the passage of time. The ante is even higher today when he began preaching his anti-growth gospel. The supply of open space is diminishing rapidly. In this case, the unchanged man might be in the right place to deal with the ever changing times.

VIEWPOINT

Teens respond to labor shortage

Rip Van Winkle wouldn't have been anymore surprised than I at what baby-boomer householders pay teenagers for weekend odd jobs.

If the law of supply and demand is operative, available work far exceeds the number of teens interested in exchanging their labor for spending money. So what you have is kids hiring out for near extortion rates.

I needed some heavy lifting for the spring pier installation and re-locating some yard timbers. My call for help resulted in a response from a high school lad who informed me that his rate is $20 per hour. Incredulous, I responded, "Too much." He countered at $15 and I came back with $10—"bottom offer." The lad parried. "I'll talk to my buddy." End of negotiations.

Since all the grass mowing and dishwashing jobs have been taken over by immigrants, maybe suburban teens have been forced to upgrade their skills to remain competitive. Ah, the laws of economics at work.

Since pre-teen babysitters now get about $5 per hour or more and the fast food places pay $6 to $7 for counter help, I thought I'd be keeping up with the market at a $10 a hour rate. Have I been asleep for 20 years? Your opinion

A KID AGAIN

Seven hundred Pleviak School third and fourth graders—and one huffing and puffing publisher—squeezed through a Wisconsin Central locomotive for an up-front view of a railroad power plant. The kids returned to class and discussion of the railroad industry's Save-A-Life program. The publisher stole a moment in the engineer's seat to fulfill a long-time experience. Bob Ringa, president of the Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce, got the idea for a safety day at the Metra Station after seeing a mangled bicycle used to dramatize care in crossing railroad tracks.

ON THE JOB

Tim Grant has a security system at his Lake Zurich jewelry store that never ceases to attract customer attention. Saint, a four-year-old German shepherd, and Clyde, a friendly boxer, double as ambassadors of goodwill, never failing to extend a paw of greeting when getting acquainted with customers.

NO AMMO NEEDED

Visitors to Friends of the Navy Night program Wednesday at Great Lakes Naval Training Center got to shoot the new laser guns used for recruit firearms training. Sort of an arcade touch, but the Navy likes the simulators because they're safer and less costly to operate. Adm. Kevin Green, Great Lakes CO, was a surprise guest speaker, telling visitors like he does parents every Friday that the future of the U.S. Navy rests on the shoulders of the young Americans trained at Great Lakes. A daunting responsibility.

COMMENTARY

Push for Raftis undermines message of voting public

BY NORMAN C. GEARY

Larry Leafblad is right when he said this County Board continues to "thumb its nose" at the people who voted for change last year.

The people defeated Dick Raftis because of what he stood for, not for who he is. The voters did not like all this growth, and Raftis got the blame. Certainly, there were other issues, but uncontrolled growth was the lightning rod.

Now, the machine politicians on the Lake County Board are trying to appoint Raftis to the Zoning Board of Appeals on the basis of his background. It's the wrong signal to send to the people who defeated him 2 to 1 last year. There was no question in the results. The people exempt from this mandate, which included defeating the icon of urban sprawl, Bulldozer Bob Depke.

Then, look back to December and the election of Bob Grever, chairman and gatekeeper for the machine politicians. The Machine Republicans forged a cozy deal with hungry Democrats to keep the power and chairmanships away from Independent Republicans—again, dodging the will of the voters.

Further, they erased Judge Minard Hulse's name from the juvenile center and "anointed" their buddy, Bob Depke by placing Depke's name on the new Vernon Hills facility.

Is this County Board immune? Is this "good ol' boy politics" at work? Can they continue to get away with ignoring mandates? The work for the 1998 March primary is already underway, and this time, you can send a message to the rest of the machine politicians on that County Board: Pack your bags.

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Geo-Karis welcomes Bono with new title: A Mediterranean

Sonny Bono thought he had been called every name in the book until he came to Lake County and met the grand dame, State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

"He's a Mediterranean, so he can't be all bad," Geo said of the Lake County Republican Federation's spring dinner guest speaker.

"I've been called a lot of things, but never a Mediterranean," Bono, of Sicilian heritage, quipped when taking the stage. "I'll have something new to tell my wife, tonight."

All work, no fun

All of Lake County's state representatives were missing in action from the spring dinner, Friday night, because the house was still in session in Springfield.

Pushing for adjournment

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis said she told Senate leader Pate Phillips that she and Billy Peterson had to make a commitment in Lake County and he'd Salvi: Seeking the Attorney General's job?

Beaubien: All work and no dinner

Graham: Missing coffee klatches in new role better wrap up business early Friday.

"He listens," said Geo-Karis.

Whose who

The Lake County Republican Federation Dinner was a virtual who's who in state politics. Among those making an appearance were: Secretary of State Jim Ryan, Comptroller Loleta Didrickson and Treasurer Judy Baar-Topinka.

On the campaign trail

Campaign gossip

And speaking of the 1998 primary, a new newsletter from Kitty Kurth and Kevin Lampe, a political consulting and public relations firm, has several Lake County well-knowns seeking seats in the primaries.

Among the gossip: Al Salvi is looking to tip his hat into the U.S. Senate race and the Attorney General's race. Party Lines is betting against the U.S. Senate but attorney general may well suit one of Lake County's most likeable candidates.

The newsletter also reports Bob Churchill may seek the Secretary of State's chair.

On the Democratic front, both State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) and Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) are rumored to be running for Lt. Governor. The Gash item may hold some water, but Link is just getting his feet wet on the senate floor.

The newsletter is available on e-mail at

KurthLampe@aol.com. A disclaimer says all politicians requesting to be removed from the list will be.

On the job training

Older and wiser colleagues are chuckling over the entanglement State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) has gotten himself into with residents of Knollwood, an unincorporated community that frequently chafes living in the shadow of Lake Bluff. The well-meaning freshman solon is sponsoring special legislation to make it easier for Knollwood to incorporate. "Leave us alone," retorted a group of Knollwoodites who fear tax hikes under incorporation. Now Link will have to mend fences, legislative old-timers advise.

Taking leave

Now that he's back in office, Libertyville Township Supervisor Mike Graham isn't a regular anymore at the Saturday morning coffee klatches at a Grayslake restaurant where longtime open spacers compare notes. Frequent attendees include a couple of former County Board Chairmen, a retired state legislator and strategists for the land preservation movement. The informal group contains both Republicans and Democrats.

THE PFARR CORNER

More nominees for hall of fame

A month ago in this corner I kicked around the idea of a just-for-fun, fantasy hall of fame for western Lake County. After all, Waukegan has a Walk of Fame honoring comedian Jack Benny, science-fiction writer Ray Bradbury, football great Otto Graham and painter Phil Austin.

But how about us out here in the 'burbs? Shouldn't our stars of sports, entertainment and the arts have a Valhalla of their own?

I am not especially a fan of fame halls; after all, I've never been named to one. A lot of my old high school and college friends have been lionized, however. As I like to point out, they're all in "Who's Who" and I'm still in "Who's He?" For my Lakeland make-believe hall of fame, history buffs, librarians and old-timers helped me gather these names for starters: actors Marlon Brando and Richard Widmark, both of whom spent some of their younger years in Libertyville; actress Ann-Margret, who came to Fox Lake from Sweden in 1949 at the age of 8; author Gerald DiPego, a graduate of Round Lake High School; baseball star Brett Butler of Libertyville; football player and professional wrestler Jim McMillen, of both Grayslake and Antioch; and professional golfer Fred Hawkins of Antioch.

Readers of that article a month ago came up with three more candidates: Jay Hook, Tom Wittum and Billy Klaus, all sports stars.

Hook, of Grayslake, pitched in the big leagues for eight years and was a regular starter some 35 years ago for the Cincinnati Reds and a new team back then, the New York Mets.

Hook's career record included only 29 wins against 62 losses, but he pitched for some lousy teams. The 1962 Mets, with whom he had a dismal 8-19 record, won only 40 of their 160 games.

The immortal manager of those miserable Mets was Casey Stengel. In a book titled, "Stengel: His Life and Times," author Robert Creamer wrote:

"Stengel liked Jay Hook but wanted the Northwestern University graduate to pitch more aggressively, to loosen up the hitters at the plate in order to be more effective. When Hook didn't, Casey said, 'I have the smartest pitcher in the world until he goes to the mound.'"

Tom Wittum now works for Grayslake High School as a physical education teacher, curriculum coordinator and a coach in football and baseball. He was an all-around athlete at Round Lake High in the late 1960s. The Chicago White Sox drafted him as an infielder but Wittum opted for a baseball scholarship at Northern Illinois University.

However, as a football "walk-on," he became NIU's punter and later kicked for seven years for the San Francisco 49ers. He was all-pro in 1974 and '75, averaging more than 43 yards per punt.

One of his best pals from those days is Steve Spurrier, a former 49ers quarterback who now is the head coach of the mighty University of Florida Gators.

Billy Klaus, born in Fox Lake in 1928, played major league baseball for 11 years, mostly as a shortstop with the Boston and Milwaukee Braves. In his best years, 1955 and '56, he played for the Boston Red Sox and hit .283 and .271.

His kid brother, Bobby Klaus, also made it to the big-time briefly, playing second base for Cincinnati in 1964 and for the Mets in '65. His "cup-of-coffee" career batting average was a mere .208.

But that's OK, Bobby. There's still plenty of room in "Who's He?" Welcome to the club.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Time running out to preserve land

The DuPage County Forest Preserve is adding a referendum to the November ballot asking for $75 million to buy land. With the rate of development in DuPage, their commissioners feel this is their last chance to buy any land at all. DuPage Forest Preserve currently owns 22,500 acres, about 11 percent of the land in DuPage County.

In Cook County, the Forest Preserve owns 67,700 acres, also about 11 percent of the land.

The Lake County Forest Preserve owns 20,246 acres—a mere 6.9 percent of the total land in Lake County. We must not be fooled by the illusion of open space—all that farmland we drive by is not going to be undeveloped forever. Unless we change our present course, when all is said and done, we will have significantly less open space than any neighboring county. And those neighboring counties are not necessarily even good examples of open space preservation.

The problem is not with the populace—in 1993 Lake County voters approved a $30 million referendum for the purchase and maintenance of forest preserve land, and we consistently vote out of office the more egregious "pave it over" offenders. Despite these clear signals, forest preserve purchases have fallen precipitously in the last six years. Lake County stands in the enviable position of having money to spend—of that referendum, approximately $15 million of the $20 million earmarked for land purchases remains.

The longer we wait, the fewer good parcels will be available, and the higher the price for them will be. The Lake County Conservation Alliance encourages the Lake County Forest Preserve District to complete the purchases mandated with the 1993 referendum.

Ryg questions political

Recent letters from Kim Baldwin, Grayslake, and Marlene McMahon, Buffalo Grove, concerning my nominating petitions for Deerfield Township are obviously politically motivated attempts to discredit Kathy Ryg. I'd like to set the record straight:

1. The notary issue was never a part of the objection filed against my slate of candidates. It therefore, had no standing in the objection. The fact that Kathy Ryg is a prominent Lake County Democrat seems to be the only motivation in this line of questioning. Why not question the actions of notaries: Sally Peddle, Marcia Plazyk on the Independent Citizens Party petitions?

2. I am puzzled why Baldwin and McMahon as residents of central and western Lake County were set up to write letters on a Deerfield Township issue. Nowhere near their hometowns.

3. It appears the Deerfield Township election has been confused with what many may think is the 1998 County Clerk race. As a member of the nominating committee for the Lake County democrats, I can assure you the Democrats have a field of qualified candidates eager to return the County Clerk's office to the quality and integrity that prevailed under the administration of Linda Hess.

Campaign seasons are long enough. Lake County voters don't deserve to be subjected to this political paranoia.

Arlene Demb

Health threat remains

I am hopeful that the IEPA agency restricted status is taken seriously by the Village of Waukegan. This agency action is not an everyday occurrence and by agency standards is of great importance. The Village of Waukegan knowingly subjected citizens, our lakes and tributaries to public health hazards that include raw sewage releases and potential chemical contaminants from the waste site.

To many of us, this should be a celebrated victory. Unfortunately, it is difficult to celebrate with the history of violations and lack of commitment to resolve this public health hazard that has been plaguing our community for decades. Newspaper articles date back to the early 1970s and continue through to the 1990s. Although some public officials and appointed offices may have changed over the decades, many are still the same. Most notably is the village appointed engineering firm, Baxter and Woodman.

The mere fact that the village has released raw and partially treated sewage into Bangs Lake and tributaries of Slocum Lake, several times without notifying citizens, should be of primary concern to all. The actions of the village and history speak for itself, this could very well happen again. Public health hazards are a most serious matter and deserve far greater respect and commitment to complete resolution, than we have seen for the last three decades.

Carolyn J. Widtmann,
President
Slocum Lake Management Assn.

Let us vote

Why won't the village of Grayslake let us vote in a fall referendum for a $25 million civic center they plan that has two pools and two gyms? This will settle the argument once and for all. A sloppy and inaccurate survey done some time ago is not permission from us to build. If you think a $25 million civic center can be built and operated, costing the taxpayers nothing, you have been sold a dream by the sedulous village public relations staff. To be fair, let the people decide in a fall referendum. Insist on it!

Grayslake

What's the big deal?

I'm calling about the person that complained about the change of the intersection at Grand Avenue and Route 83. They've obviously only traveled that road eastbound in the morning, because traffic coming from Lindenhurst heading north to Round Lake has been backed up for four or five lights. All the buses from Lindenhurst have to go to Prince of Peace, parents drive their kids to school and go that way. It's about time this intersection was changed. I wished they'd have added a left hand turn light to make it easier. But what's the big deal?

Way to go, Sherry

I'm calling to commend Sherry Hoban at the village hall in Antioch. Every time I go into the village hall to pay a water bill or ask a question, Sherry is always ready to help and does it with a smile. She makes the village hall a nice place to go. More places should have such friendly and helpful employees as Sherry.

Do the right thing

I'm calling to leave a message for all the village boards in the area. I just want everyone to take a look at the way they're developing and the fees they're charging. Everyone, please do it right. Most of the people in the county aren't opposed to development, but just want it done responsibly. Do the right thing!

My kids won't follow

Remember the Cabbage Patch craze? I was one of the parents who told their child I wasn't going to participate in the craziness just so she could have a doll like her friends. She understood and was only 5 years old. She thinks the Beanie Baby craze is funny. I have three other children and none of them wanted any part of it. All my kids are independent and definitely not followers. I'm proud of them for not wanting something that everybody else has. I feel they'll grow up to be strong and proud individuals who will make the right choices for themselves.

Give him a call

I've called Brian Buchanan, train master from the Wisconsin Central Railroad, many times, asking him to please have his engineers be more quiet, especially during the night. He refuses to do anything about the excessive noise. He's also told me that I'm the only one to complain about the noise. Perhaps no one knows how to contact him, so I'm leaving his number at the Wisconsin Central Trainmasters office in Schiller Park, 671-3830.

Fees not fair

I live in Lake Villa and this is to US Cable in Lake County. I think there's a couple things you could change about adding additional TVs to my house if I want to watch cable on them. If I have an outdoor antenna all I need to do is go to Sears, Radio Shack, get all the antenna wire I need, a couple of small tools and hook up all the TVs I want to my antenna. I don't understand why I can't hook up as many TVs as I want on my own as long as I'm paying for the initial service. Every time I want a TV hooked up, I've got to take a day off of work. I could do the same thing with less than $10 worth of equipment, rather than a huge service fee.

Needs better agenda

I'd like to make a comment on our House Speaker, Newt Gingrich, who last week proposed a huge government crackdown on drug trafficking and youth, and so forth. He's just jumping on the bandwagon and it's never gone anywhere. I'd rather see things straightened out in Washington in regard to his own problems. To me, there's no real great effort to stop drugs in our country. We're stopping the little guys, not the big guys. Newt should get a better agenda.

Happy birthday

Belated 29th birthday birthday wishes to Joe G. Gray and Sean Gray, 5-8-97. Love, Mom

Eyesores

As soon as the weather starts getting warm in Lake Zurich, people start bringing their boats out and parking them in their driveways. These large boats don't belong there because people end up parking on sidewalks and large boats depreciate the value of your neighbors' property if they're trying to sell their home. Try thinking about your neighbors and don't think you're special and need a boat in your driveway.

Grayslake discriminates

I think it's disgusting that Grayslake High School gave an Outstanding Hispanic Student of the Year award, which is absolutely discriminatory. You'd have to give an award to every culture. What makes this race superior to every other? If there was an Outstanding White Student of the Year, there would be a community uproar. This is disgusting and I'm pulling my children out of the school district because of it.

New format's great

I'm happy about the new format of the Lakeland Newspapers. You've really done a good thing. I also like Lipservice and I'll continue contributing to the column. It's a needed service that people can give their opinions without any repercussions.

Change the system

I'm calling about the delivery of the Lakeland Newspapers, which has switched to adult delivery to a conveniently located area on the property. The papers are left in bags at the end of the driveway or in the road in front of the driveway. This is causing monumental trash in the neighborhoods in Antioch Township. This isn't a good system and should be changed immediately. If you want people to read the papers, deliver them, don't throw them in the road.

Antioch

Missed your chance

I'm very disappointed. Why couldn't she pick up the article regarding our choir and chorus at the middle school in Grayslake. They earned high acclaim and our community paper didn't recognize them. This is ridiculous and you should be ashamed of yourselves.

Make 'em obey laws

I have a suggestion that professional sports could take, especially the fight between the New York Knicks and Miami Heat. Why can't the law apply to them on the playing field as it applies to people everywhere else? If a fan gets into a fight at a stadium, they're taken out and subject to arrest. Why can't ballplayers face this, too? To me, it's disorderly conduct and they get away with it all the time.

Reality check

The majority of families in our area have two full-time working parents, a reality of today. It's time the educational system recognized this and got into the '90s. Why is the school year still based on an agricultural lifestyle? We no longer need to have kids working the farm in the summer. Kids have too much time off and that's when they get into trouble. Both parents work all year, 8-10 hours a day and the school schedule needs to adapt to this fact of modern-day life. Teachers won't like it, but it's time they get real. I work 40-50 hours a week with three weeks off and make $22,000. Teachers work 6 hours a day, have at least 18 weeks off a year and start at $25,000. It's about time taxpayers got their money's worth. I'm for year-round school with two weeks off per quarter, expand the school day from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. and use the extra time for literary programs for kids.

Get a life

I'm calling regarding the comments about Lake Zurich people complaining about their neighbors. What is it with Lake Zurich people? They ought to get a life.

Subject is closed

I just got back from the Antioch zoning board meeting regarding changing the status of nearby property from residential to manufacturing. I went there with an open mind but Chairman Johnson soon changed that. She closed the discussion when there were still citizens waiting to ask questions. She appeared impatient. Many of us only heard of the proposal eight days prior and were still struggling to understand why this was being considered. Only board member Binder had personally viewed the site in question. Having done that, she was not in favor and voted no. The vote was 4-2 in favor of making six acres on Depot Rd. manufacturing. Board member Kradey cited the comprehensive plan in justifying his vote. Comprehensive plan? Although it has been revised numerous times, it was engraved in stone that night. Your town has a comprehensive plan, too. Check it out!

Get speeders, too

I've counted six or seven DUI arrests in Lakeland Newspapers and I'm glad to hear that they're getting some of these people off the road, but I wish we could also get the 10 mile an hour over the speed limit guys that are tailgating, not signalling, cutting in and out, etc. So, let's also watch the other clowns as well as the DUIs.

Watch your cats

For outdoor cat owners: Lindenhurst has a leash law that includes cats. Call the village to check this out for yourself. Please curtail your cat to your own property instead of letting him roam around all day while you're at work.

Not impressed

I went to a theatre a couple of weeks ago and sat down in the stadium seating and wasn't impressed by it. Why is this so impressive to people? I didn't feel comfortable being up and forward.

Where's drop-off?

I am a taxpayer who lives in Island Lake and I'm really mad the Wauconda Library still has not put a drop-off box as they promised when we voted for the new library. Maybe it's time for Island Lake to get their own library!

No rights

When we moved to Lake Zurich my husband and I were over 45 and had no idea that we would have no right to sit out in my yard because of screaming kids, barking dogs, and planes flying overhead. Where is the village administration? Do they just get appointed for their own selfish reasons? We pay taxes and we expect the noise nuisance laws to be enforced along with the speed limit.

Not a qualification

I'm from Lake Zurich and I read last week's newspaper about Jim Kriskche. Whoever wrote the article, I'm steamed at them. Just because he's "blue collar" doesn't make him more qualified to be mayor. If you read the article, he says a lot of stuff about him being a blue collar man.

Editor's Note: The article was meant to highlight the different roles Kriskche has in his life. Not to indicate that being a blue collar worker made him more qualified to be mayor.

Grass is greener...

I want to talk about taxes. Taxes are very high in Illinois. In New Castle, Pennsylvania if you have a three-bedroom house, formal dining room, kitchen, full bathroom, double lot, and two-car garage with a full basement, your taxes in 1997 are $1,000. In Illinois it's very high. In Pennsylvania, they also don't charge their children to go to school. They were shocked when I told them we pay to send our kids to school. They also get free bus service and lunches. The same goes for people in Florida. I just want to say different states charge different ways. Illinois is very high.

Believe me, we pay

This is in response to "Not fair." It's about renters not paying any taxes. We pay our taxes. Do you think our landlords don't tax us? Do you think we pay our rent less taxes and we don't pay for schools? We pay just as much for schools as you do.

Free advertising

I'm calling regarding all of those advertising signs for the different housing developments that are put up along the main roads. I think it's unfair that the developers get free advertising. Especially when the rest of us have to pay for it through newspapers, etc.

Against the law

I was out in my yard doing some work and my neighbor is blaring her radio. I can't believe it. Isn't this against the law? I hate her music. I think I'll go out and play some waltzes real loud.

Let's have commitment

Hey, Suzi Schmidt, what are you doing to protect Fairfield Marsh from bulldozers? The people who elected you into office are counting on you to aggressively secure the Fairfield Marsh for a potential forest preserve acquisition. Or, better yet, maybe you can champion a land donation from the current trustees who hold title to the parcel. This property is home and a source of water to many of Mother Nature's children. We would like to see a commitment from you or don't count on our votes next time.

Lake Villa

Fly the flag

Memorial Day is coming up and the remembrance of the soldiers that died in World War II and Vietnam. Let's fly the American flag for a change instead of some other flag. Let's show them some respect. Raise the flag and be proud of it.

Provide interpreters

Where is TTY for deaf people to use at Gurnee Village Hall as Mr. Burke promised? TTY is a machine for deaf people to make calls. Mr. Burke owes us an explanation. He promised to install it in May of 1997. He lied to the deaf community and violated the American Disabilities Act. And, hey, DCFS, where's your responsibility to provide a sign language interpreter for deaf mothers at your mother's support group? How would she understand in the group without an interpreter? Shame on you. DCFS must provide for the deaf community. The deaf mother was lost in the group and it's unfair. Help her, please. Also, how come Lipservice doesn't provide TTY for the hearing impaired? Please provide this so we all can call in.

Waukegan

Come on, let us in

I'm very disgusted that the three schools that are left out from the Northwest Suburban Conference will be left on their own. I feel that the athletic directors of these schools probably did try hard to get these schools into a conference. I feel as an alumnus of Grant High School, a school that has been around since 1929 or 1930, should have been part of that conference, as it was for 67 years. It's not good enough for me to see my school not in a conference. It's disheartening. The same for Round Lake and Waukegan. They should petition the North Suburban Conference and say they want to join the conference. Maybe they'll let them in.

Forget about it

People who are concerned about Jim Riggleman being fired should not be too concerned because the team might have started out 0-14, but it's the team who has to produce, not the manager. I'm not too worried about it. I feel he will make the Cubs a winner in the future.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Starting on the right foot

The cost of adding new employees continues to grow. If you include the direct cost of hiring and the loss of efficiency while a new hire gets up to speed, you may find you are spending several thousand dollars per employee.

In today's hyper-competitive marketplace, where every profit dollar is important, finding and keeping good employees is more critical than ever. We've discussed finding good people in previous columns, so we'll keep this one focused on getting new employees up to speed quickly.

Here are some tips for getting new hires started off on the right foot. You should include these basic elements in your indoctrination plan. They will help new folks develop a positive attitude about your company, have more enthusiasm and become productive quickly.

- Make them feel at home. The first day at a new job may be the most important. Most employees are anxious about their first day. They are wondering if this is the right job? Will they like, and be liked by, others who work there? Will they be good at this job?

It is important to give the new employees assurance and put them at ease. It is also important to reinforce the benefits of working for you and your company.

An employee checklist can cover many of the areas you wish to discuss on the first day and during the first week. You should include introductions, company history and goals, location of necessary facilities, company policies and rules and who to call in case of emergencies.

This orientation process should include a summary of company benefits, pay periods, hours, breaks and safety information. Give the new employee plenty of time for questions.

- Don't expect too much too soon. While you may need your newest employee to be productive immediately, this seldom happens. Give them time to adjust to their new environment and routine. You and other employees set the tone by your example. Use your best employees to work closely with your newest hire when you can't be nearby.

Give them good directions. The most frustrating time for new employees may be the period wherein they don't know exactly what to do. They may either do the wrong thing or do the right thing in an incorrect way. Clearly define what you expect and the results you want. Put your instructions in writing if necessary.

- Stay in close contact. Don't just give them good directions; follow up. Give them the opportunity to ask questions and seek your approval. By staying in close contact you can nip problems in the bud. You can also correct negative behavior before it becomes a bad habit.

- Add responsibilities gradually. Your goal is to allow each employee to grow and assume responsibility as quickly as possible. However, each employee has a different comfort level when undertaking new

Pets and people come together

Cats, dogs, reptiles all line up for grand opening of PETsMART

There were just as many pets as people at the May 17 grand opening of the PETsMART store located at 6405 Grand Ave., Gurnee.

Pets of all types and sizes, from gerbils, to reptiles, to parrots, to cats and dogs lined up for the 9 a.m. opening. Mayor Richard Welton was on hand for the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

In addition to catering to animals who have owners, PETsMART is the leader in providing corporate support for homeless animals. The Gurnee store features the innovative "Luv a Pet" adoption center, which provides local shelters a new, high traffic location to match pets with owners. These centers, located in every PETsMART store, helped find homes last year for more than 120,000 animals nationally.

Other in-store services include a full-service grooming center and low-cost obedience classes. PETsMART offers more than 12,000 pet food and supply items in its 25,000 square foot store. The store's wide aisles are designed to encourage pets to accompany their owners and contribute to the shopping experience.

"At PETsMART, we see pets as family," Gary Schultz, store director said. "Both pets and owners are welcome. The family will appreciate all of the products and services at PETsMART to meet their needs for fun, one-stop shopping."

The Phoenix based company sponsors PETsMART Charities, a non-profit organization founded by PETsMART to help end euthanasia as a means of controlling pet overpopulation. Through this organization PETsMART has donated more than $2.5 million to local and national animal welfare organizations.

PETsMART (NASDAQ:PETM), the nation's largest pet superstore chain, operates 342 superstores in 35 states, eight in Canada, and 57 in the United Kingdom. Twenty-one new PETsMART stores are opening across the country in May alone.

Edward Jones to host seminar for women

Robert L. Friederich, an Edward Jones investment representative, will host a free satellite broadcast for women Thursday, May 29.

This hour-long program, "Taking Hold of Your Purse Strings," will include a panel of stock analysts from Edward Jones' equity research department who will discuss how stocks can help women obtain their financial goals at various periods of their lives—starting with the early investing years through retirement. The program will also address how to select mutual funds, minimize risk, and choose stocks to meet individual financial goals.

"Studies show that 80 to 90 percent of women will be solely responsible for their finances at some point in their lives," Friederich said.

Broadcast live from Edward Jones' headquarters in St. Louis, the program will reach Edward Jones' 3,500 branch offices nationwide via the firm's private satellite network. Following the panelists' remarks, viewers nationwide may phone in questions live onto the set.

"The information presented in this program is genderless, however the framework takes into consideration the specific challenges facing today's female investors," said Friederich.

For more information on the free May 29 program or to reserve a seat, contact Robert L. Friederich located at 48 S. Old Rand Rd., Ste. 103, Lake Zurich or call, 438-7577.

Lexington Homes named 'Builder of the Year'

Midwest Homebuilder Magazine has honored Libertyville-based Lexington Homes as Builder of the Year for 1997.

Chosen from more than 100 of the top home builders in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, Lexington Homes has been recognized for its outstanding home designs combined with beautiful community environments, according to Thomas Chaffee, publisher of the magazine.

"Lexington Homes offers a powerful combination of advantages that reflect the type of homes and neighborhoods today's home buyers are seeking," said Chaffee. "Not only are Lexington home designs exciting, functional and built with quality craftsmanship and materials, but Lexington neighborhoods also offer an outstanding environment, with green space, schools, parks and other enhancements that add up to an excellent quality of life. We also were impressed with the Lexington Homes reputation for integrity. As one of the Cambridge Companies, Lexington Homes stands behind its homes and offers responsive customer service. Buyers enjoy peace of mind as well as beautiful homes and inviting communities."

According to Douglas Brown, president of Lexington Homes, the Builder of the Year designation is a gratifying honor for the company which was acquired by the Cambridge Companies in 1995.

"Lexington Homes has long had a distinguished reputation with home buyers, and as a result of the acquisition, the quality and services provided by Lexington Homes are better than ever," said Brown. "It is an honor to be recognized with this prestigious award by one of the premier home-building publications in the Midwest."

Lexington Homes is presently developing five new home communities, featuring a variety of designs and prices.

Huntington Chase is centrally located in Elk Grove Village and will include 184 single-level Carriage Homes and 152 two-story townhomes. Prices range from $142,490 to $175,490.

The Links of English Meadows in Grayslake will include 240 single-family homes in two series featuring nine different designs. Prices range from $148,990 to $237,990.

River Ridge in South Elgin is the newest Lexington Homes community and is continuing the success of its sister community, Sugar Ridge. Prices range from $157,990 to $227,990.

Summerlin in southwest Aurora is planned for 240 single-family homes. Prices range from $147,490 to $185,990. Thorngate is a picturesque community of 213 single-family homes in Riverwoods. Prices range from $366,490 to $440,990.

With the recent merger of Cambridge Homes and Lexington Homes, the Cambridge Companies is among the largest homebuilders in the nation. The Libertyville-based company offers a variety of single-family and townhome designs with prices ranging from the low $100,000s to more than $400,000.

FNBO celebrates third anniversary

This year will mark three years of Employee Ownership for First National Bank-Employee Owned, and to celebrate they will be holding an open house in the Gurnee and Antioch facilities.

The anniversary celebration will be held to give customers and community members a chance to come into the FNBO facilities and get a first hand look at how an Employee Owned Bank operates.

FNBO is one of only five banks in the country that are owned by its employees. Though the bank has been using Employee Owned in its name for the past two years, the bank officially changed its name from First National Bank of Antioch to First National Bank-Employee Owned in December of 1996 to reflect its pride in ownership.

The open house will be held Saturday, June 7 from 8:30 a.m. to noon. Refreshments, free giveaways and raffle prizes will be offered.

BUSINESS CALENDAR

Employment Fair

Eighteen community organizations and businesses are joining forces to host JobMarket Place '97 May 29. Expected to be the biggest employment fair in Lake County this year, the event will be held from 1 to 7 p.m. in the physical educational center, building 7, at the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus.

The event will bring together more than 180 employers to recruit full- and part-time jobs. Call 816-2837 for further details.

Limiting risks

Roch Tranel, CFP, president of Money Concepts in Libertyville is hosting a seminar entitled "Limiting Risks in Volatile Markets," Thursday, June 5 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. For reservations, call 680-9050.

Cost-cutting keeps inflation in check

Nervous executives will continue to cut costs, keeping inflation in check for the foreseeable future, said Diane C. Swonk, deputy chief economist of The First National Bank of Chicago.

"Senior managers in the Midwest were among the first to experience job insecurity and, as a result, were among the first to institutionalize the process of cost-cutting," Swonk said in her monthly First Forecasts newsletter. "Once management systems are dismantled and cost-cutting is rewarded, firms continue to squeeze out decades of fat and inefficiencies."

That has changed the dynamics of inflation. In the past, tight labor markets led to higher unit labor costs and created rapidly rising inflation. And the Federal Reserve Board reacted by raising interest rates.

Today, however, inflation has not exploded even though unemployment in the Midwest sank below 4.3 percent in the first quarter—a 27-year low. The key is management insecurity, Swonk said.

"Globalization, deregulation, corporate takeover threats and rising shareholder activism have dramatically changed the comfort level of senior executives," she said. "Most are not convinced that their jobs depend on taking aggressive action to increase earnings and push up their stock price. The result is a fundamental change in the system of labor compensation in the United States."

Compensation growth has stagnated while profit margins have widened, Swonk said.

She pointed to auto and heavy equipment industries that have sought more flexibility by challenging the United Auto Workers union "pattern contracts." Meanwhile, management across industries have moved to tie wages more to performance and to hire more temporary workers to alleviate benefit burdens.

"The results have been nothing short of phenomenal," said Swonk. "Labor costs were reined in, productivity growth accelerated, and profits soared."

At some point, inflation will re-accelerate, Swonk said. But it's not likely to occur anytime soon.

FROM C9

STARTING: Getting new employees up to speed

duties. Add new tasks and responsibilities gradually. You don't want to overwhelm them.

There is a fine line here. You don't want to bore your quick learners either. With a little practice, you'll learn how to add responsibility while giving the guidance necessary to keep everyone comfortable, yet challenged.

Praise in public, correct in private. Mark Twain said he could live for a month on a good compliment. Praise is important. Especially if the praise is sincere, deserved and offered in the presence of others.

Correction, discipline and criticism require the opposite approach. You must correct and discipline in a positive manner, but only in private.

These techniques are working for thousands of successful companies. With a little thought and practice they can work for you as well.

Young and very trainable, Biscuit wants to please and will quickly learn whatever she is taught. Biscuit loves attention and she is very responsive. This is a dog that loves life and people, wants to love someone special and to be loved. If you are looking for a great dog for your family, come and see Biscuit in Cage 77. WEST

The West would be a great starter home for a newly married couple or a retirement couple wanting to downsize. The two bedroom, one bath home takes advantage of space, while taking construction cost into consideration.

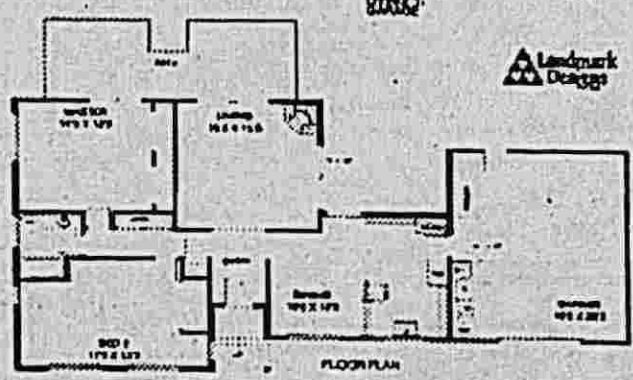

The corner fireplace adds charm and warmth to the living room. There is room for entertaining in this area or on the back deck which is accessed through the sliding glass doors.

Counter space on four sides of the kitchen and a butcher block next to the range makes for an efficient work area. The dining room, which is conveniently located next to the kitchen, is large enough for entertaining friends and relatives.

The large one car garage is only a few steps from car to counter when bringing in groceries, and allows for unloading them no matter what the weather. The garage has enough space for a washer, dryer, sink, freezer and storage.

The large master bedroom features a closet that runs the length of the room, and sliding glass doors which lead to the deck. The two bedrooms share a full bathroom with tub and shower combination. The second bedroom is large, with a corner alcove for a desk or chair for reading and relaxing before retiring for the evening. This room is well lit by two large windows and could easily be used for an art studio, hobby area, or home theater system.

For a study kit of the WEST (403-06LP60), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO GO DOWNTOWN TO SEE GOOD BLUES!"

Chicago has long been known as the home of blues, but now Lake County can lay claim to the area's hottest blues band, "3 R Degree."

Made up of all Lake County residents, 3 R Degree is a "down to earth" group of musicians whose passion for the blues is quickly detected on stage.

Last weekend at Toppers in Antioch, 3 R Degree treated a packed house with a blues show that was second to none. The band's popularity in the area continues to grow.

"We started the band for fun a couple of years ago and it has really started to take off," said bass player Dennis Lambert.

Rooted in the far north suburbs, 3 R Degree is highly regarded in the northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin area. In addition to playing local clubs, the band was recently flown to the Orlando Convention Center, before returning for a show in Chicago at Dick's Last Resort.

"It's fun playing on the road, but what we really enjoy is playing Lake County," said Lambert. "Lake County loves the blues and they are definitely the best crowd!"

The band consists of John Walsh of Gurnee; Debbie and Dennis Lambert of Ingleside; Donna Huber, Ed Rowe and Gus Stage of Round Lake and Ken Johnson of Naperville.

Upcoming dates for 3 R Degree are Marriott Lincolnshire on May 2 and 3, The Brat Stop in Kenosha on May 9 and 11 and July 11 and 12, The Greenleaf in Gurnee on June 21 and Taste of Antioch on July 18.

LakeLife

After it ran through the woods at Libertyville's dog training site, there's nothing better than a refreshing dip in a forest preserve lake. After cooling off, Fender, a Maine Coon, heads a happy day on the shore. The forest preserve park is built to help dogs play safely. —Photo by Christine L. Leland

It's a beautiful day at Libertyville's dog training site, and the sun is shining on a group of dogs and their owners. The dogs are of various breeds, sizes, and colors, and they are all excited to be at the site. The owners are also excited, and they are all smiling and talking to their dogs. The site is a beautiful forest preserve, and it is a perfect place for dogs to play and exercise. The site is designed especially for canines, and it is a great place for dog owners to take their dogs for a walk or to play. ## Hello, and welcome to 'Our Town'

Welcome to "Our Town" which is all about your town, friends and neighbors and, possibly, you may glimpse your own name in this column from time to time.

As part of the new design here at Lakeland Newspapers, I will be writing a weekly column. To start off the first week I thought I should introduce myself.

I started my career with Lakeland Newspapers in October of 1995 and began covering Wadsworth in September of 1996, when the "Wadsworth News" was born.

I came to Lake County with my family, who relocated here from Tennessee. I've been somewhat of a nomad in the last 10 years or so. Even here in Lake County, I've lived in Lake Bluff and Gurnee, before my recent move to the Lincoln Park neighborhood in Chicago. My friends and relatives claim they no longer write my name in ink in their address books.

I spent the first few years of my life in Kaneohe, Oahu, Hawaii, then, unfortunately may I add, my parents decided to return to Midwest roots and moved their hometown, Kankakee, Ill. For those of you not familiar with Kankakee, most people remember it as the place they stop for gas on their way to Champaign.

OUR TOWN

When I was in high school my family moved down south to Chattanooga, Tenn. I attended Notre Dame High School there, which was strategically located directly across the street from an all boys school, which happened to be the alma mater of Ted Turner. I suppose everyone knows where we spent our time after school.

I decided not to stick it out down there and returned to Illinois, where I finished high school in my hometown.

I graduated from Bishop McNamara High School in Kankakee, and Columbia College in Chicago. In college I started out as a public relations major, but found my way into the journalism program. My affinity for writing was sparked by the fact that I always had my nose buried in a book as a kid.

Covering Wadsworth brings back memories for me of my own family. My grandparents, Eaken, was a farmer in Iroquois County and the town my grandparents lived in was a little country hamlet similar to Wadsworth, although it was definitely in a more remote location.

Often, I'm reminded of my hometown when talking with residents of the area, who reminisce about the way things used to be and where they're heading. Everyone in Newport Township seems to know everyone else, either as distant relatives, neighbors, or former classmates.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Elizabeth Eaken at 223-8181, ext. 178 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com.
